SAWYER WINS IN NIP-AND-TUCK RACE—SCHOOL BONDS BEATEN

ISSUE LACKS 410 VOTES OF NEEDED 65 PCT. MARGIN

Only One Ward In City Gives Building Plan Necessary Margin, While Two Fail to Cast Majority Vote for Program; Vote's 5558 to 3624.

By a slim margin of 410 votes Mansfield school children were deprived of new and modern school buildings in yesterday's election.

The $550,000 bond issue received a majority vote—5,558 to 3,624—but it failed to obtain the necessary 65 per cent margin.

It failed by just 410 votes. If 205 of the voters who opposed the bond issue had cast an affirmative vote instead of a negative one the issue would have carried, and city schools would have been given a $450,000 outright grant by the federal government for the construction of two junior high schools and the modernization of present grade school buildings at a cost to Mansfield of $550,000.

The bonds received a majority vote in four of the city's six wards and in that part of Madison township which is in the school district.

One Ward Gives Majority.

However, only one ward, the Second, gave the bond issue the necessary 65 per cent vote. The count in this ward was 833 for and 302 against, or 70 3 per cent.

In two other wards, the Fifth and Sixth, the bond issue failed to carry even a majority vote. The vote in the Fifth ward was 421 for to 468 against for a 40.7 favorable vote while in the Sixth ward 739 votes were cast in favor of the issue and 750 against it.

The Sixth ward is the district in which the Hedges school is located. Children from that school would have been transferred eventually to the new proposed Johnny Appleseed Junior high school which was to have been built on Cline avenue in the First ward.

Board Considers Future.

Meanwhile W L. Miller, superintendent of Mansfield schools, said that a special meeting of the board of education would be held at noon today to decide what further action would be taken in the way of financing the proposed building program.

"We have not given up a school building program in Mansfield," he said. "We have received numerous telephone calls this morning from people expressing their regrets for failure of the bond issue to pass and these calls will be given the fullest consideration when the board meets."

Miller was joined by H. W Arlin, president of the school board, who declared that "it's the

NEWCOMER, VET VICTORS IN 17TH

Woodward, Townsend Advocate, Wins GOP Nomination; Ashbrook Wins Easily.

A newcomer — Townsendite candidate and a veteran of nine congressional political wars will clash for the congress seat from the 17th district which includes Richland county, when the general election rolls around next November.

Pitted against each other as a result of Tuesday's primary voting are Walter B. Woodward, Jefferson township farmer and $200 a month pension advocate, and William A. Ashbrook who coasted into an easy Democratic primary victory yesterday.

Woodward, a Republican, defeated Philip Wolfe of Mansfield, former state senator who was generally regarded as the "favorite" in the G O P. race, and Oliver H. Dockery, jr, of Newark.

Returns from all precincts in the six-county district gave Woodward a margin of 1,780 over Dockery and 2,166 more votes than were received by Wolfe who ran third.

Woodward failed to carry his home county of Richland but picked up commanding majorities in Delaware, Knox, and Ashland counties

His total vote for the district was 8,185 against 6,603 for Dock-

RECORD TOTAL ELECTS BARKLEY

70,785 Vote Majority Largest Ever Piled Up In Kentucky Primary.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)— The 70,785-vote majority by which U. S. Sen Alben W. Barkley defeated Gov. A. B (Happy) Chandler for the Democratic nomination was the largest ever piled up in a Kentucky primary.

The total ballot cast, 517,645, according to complete, unofficial returns, also was a primary record, approached only by the 494,698 in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1935 between Chandler and Thomas S Rhea. Chandler won over Rhea by 26,000.

VOTERS TURN DOWN RELIEF LEVIES 2 TO 1

Proposed Two-Mill Measure for City Defeated in 47 Out of 50 Precincts.

TOWNSHIP LEVY SWAMPED

Mayor Says He Will Ask City Council to Put Question on Ballot Again.

Overwhelmingly defeated in all but three of the city's 50 precincts and five of the Madison township's 54 precincts, two special levies designed to provide funds for relief purposes were turned down flat yesterday, placing the problem back in the hands of administration officials.

Electors in Mansfield rejected a two-mill levy for a two-year period by a vote of 5,922 to 2,384 while Madison township's one-mill levy was defeated by a vote of 6,305 to 3,047.

Fail To Carry One Ward.

The levies which needed only a majority vote failed to carry a single ward in either the city or the township and was defeated by more than a 2 to 1 majority.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter said today however, that he would ask city council at its next meeting to have the levy placed before the electorate again at the November election.

Hunter explained that he was not "sold" on the levy idea as a means of financing relief but said he could see no other "way out."

"The people of Mansfield haven't arrived at the real need for the funds for this purpose," Hunter said.

"It is absolutely necessary that we take care of our indigent families and I can see no other way than to place the question on the ballot again in November."

The mayor said City Auditor Marion D. Ward was studying a plan of borrowing on anticipated state revenues that might bring to the city approximately $60,000 to meet relief bills for the balance of this year.

He said the plan called for the issuance of notes on the borrowing of anticipated receipts on malt and wort as set up by the state in emergency legislation several weeks ago.

The three precincts to support the Mansfield levy were 3 B, which voted 69 to 65, but turned down the Madison township levy by a vote of 72 to 54; 4 E, which voted down both levies, 93 to 59 on the city, and 93 to 57 on the Madison issue, and 5 B which voted 62

STOPS HUBBELL

Davey's Defeat Halts Talk Planned in Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY — (AP) — Charles M. Hubbell of Cleveland did not speak against Mayor Frank Hague and Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio in the public square here last night as he had planned, and Hague said today he had definite knowledge Hubbell would not attempt to speak.

Hubbell, an organizer for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, checked out following receipt of a telegram purportedly from the union's Cleveland headquarters saying, "Suggest you make Jersey City address some other time. Davey is defeated in today's primaries anyway."

Courtroom Jammed As Former Deputy Takes Witness Stand

(By International News Service)

SOUTH PARIS, Me. — Taking the stand today to deny he was in any way implicated in the brutal murder of Dr James G. Littlefield, former Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll gave his "alibi" for his whereabouts and activities on the night of Oct. 13 last when the physician was slain in the home of Paul "Buddy" Dwyer.

The youthful Dwyer has repudiated his own confession to the crime and shoved the blame on Carroll, claiming the latter forced him, to assume the guilt through threats of death.

The brown-haired, barrel-chested ex-cop said that, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Ruby Carroll, he drove from his home here to Norway, two miles away, to attend a supper given by an American Legion post. He said he left home about 6-15 or 6:30 p. m. and that the supper was practically over when they arrived there.

He admitted, however, he didn't attend the Legion meeting following the supper which began at 8 p m.—the approximate time of the slaying.

Spectators packed the courtroom to the doors today as Defense Attorney Clyde R. Chapman delivered his opening address to the jury.

Shown here are five winners in major contests at Tuesday's primary election. Charles Sawyer defeated Gov. Martin L. Davey in a nip-and-tuck race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Robert J. Bulkley defeated George White for the Democratic U. S senate nomination. William A Ashbrook, Democrat, and Walter Woodward, Republican, were nominated in the 17th district congressional races and Robert A. Taft was nominated in the Republican U S senate race.

SURVEY SHOWS BUSINESS GAIN

Committee Says Industries Eager to Find Reasons for Renewed Confidence.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Pronounced improvement in business morale combined with gains in consumer goods lines were hailed today by the consumer goods industries committee.

The committee announced conclusions from a survey of a cross-section of leading corporate executives, and said business was eager to find justification for renewed confidence.

The survey struck a warning note, however, in stating that replies from business leaders disclosed "the delicacy of the situation as it still exists." It stressed the need for encouragement of present hopes to convert expectations in material realization.

Clarence Francis, president, stated in reply to the survey: "Generally speaking, inventories are low, commodity markets have not risen with the stock market, and there is a growing tendency to buy. Believe last half of the year, particularly the last quarter, will give a fairly good account of itself."

Lammot du Pont, president, E I. du Pont de Nemours and company, reported an improvement of 15 per cent in business since the first of July after a 10 per cent drop in the first half.

Claudius T. Murchison, president Cotton Textile institute, described the outlook as improved.

QUITE A HAT!

It's Valuable Because It Had $2,000 Brooch on It.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Waterfront police hunted a hat today. What made the hat so valuable was a brooch pinned to it containing 92 diamonds—valued at $2,000.

It blew off the head of Mrs. Ogden Reid, wife of the editor of the New York Herald Tribune, as she cruised on a yacht in the East river.

Japs and Soviets Dig In After Long Border Clash

Both Sides Suffer Heavy Losses, Entrench Themselves on Five-Mile Front at Changkufeng.

(By United Press)

TOKYO—Japanese and Russian troops hastily entrenched themselves on a five-mile front along the Siberian frontier today after an 11-hour battle in which Japanese asserted that they repulsed repeated Russian attacks with heavy losses.

Dispatches indicated that a big scale fight might be impending. The Russians were massing men behind their lines.

Fighting started in the Changkufeng sector at 8 o'clock last night and ended only at 7 a m. today. It was believed that losses were heavy on both sides

Dig Trenches, String Wire.

As the infantrymen stopped their fighting at 7 a m. the artillery took up the work. The infantrymen on both sides dug trenches, and, in plain view of each other, erected barbed wire entanglements in front of their positions.

Two battalions of Russian troops, perhaps 2,000 men, attacked the Japanese lines at Changkufeng, key to the frontier situation, at 8 o'clock last night.

The hill at Changkufeng which Russians occupied July 11—to precipitate the present frontier campaign—and Hill 52 in the same region were the Russian objectives, the Japanese said.

Fighting continued until 7 a m. today. The Russians, their first infantry attack thrown back despite an artillery barrage which prepared for it, brought tanks and mountain guns into action in the early hours of this morning, it was asserted.

The company was lowest of four bidders. Work is to be completed within 150 days after an order to proceed.

News-Journal Primary Party Holds Crowd Until Wee Hours

A crowd estimated at few less than 2,000 attended The News-Journal's annual primary party at the corner of Fourth and Walnut streets last night.

Early in the evening the crowd started to assemble on the corner to watch the results of the primary voting on the screen, and it did not disband until the wee hours of the morning until the various races appeared definitely settled

Candidates mingled freely with the crowd as they watched their own progress in the races, some disappointed by failure and others rejoiced by victory.

Judging from the noisy demonstrations, feeling ran high in some of the contests, but no disturbances developed.

The assemblage jeered and cheered the vote flashes, and showed particular interest in the school bond levy, which was defeated.

Results of all the county and state races were flashed on the screen as rapidly as the huge army of News-Journal employes could assemble the figures.

BEATS DAVEY BY LATE RALLY IN HECTIC BATTLE

Finally Comes Out on Top After Lead In Race Had Switched Back and Forth; Heavy Vote In Cities Proves Governor's Undoing.

BULLETIN

KENT—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey, when almost complete returns showed him losing the Democratic nomination for governor to Charles Sawyer by approximately 17,000 votes, said today he was sending the following message to Sawyer:

"You have apparently won the Democratic nomination for governor and I congratulate you."

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Reform Candidate Charles Sawyer won in a closing rally of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination today over CIO-baiting Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Reliable election observers indicated that Sawyer's margin might run as much as 20,000.

Returns from 8,403 precincts out of 8,601 in the race for the Democratic governor nomination at 12:15 p. m. today gave:

Davey 410,531; Sawyer 427,384.

Of the 198 missing precincts, 196 were in Cuyahoga, which went strongly for Sawyer in early returns.

After holding a comfortable early lead, Sawyer saw it slowly dwindle as Davey received heavy support from rural counties, but late returns from Cleveland and Summit county put the former lieutenant governor back into the lead.

For a few hours shortly before noon, as the returns trickled in from slow reporting precincts, the lead bounced back and forth.

At one time Davey went ahead on the basis of unofficial returns by nearly 3,000 votes.

That was the first time since a definite trend had been established that the governor held an advantage in the almost unprecedented race.

Sawyer once had a lead of more than 14,000, with half the state's 8,601 precincts in, but it was gradually whittled away until Davey bounded out in front by nearly 3,000 votes, with fewer than 500 precincts uncompiled. More than half of those precincts, however, were in Cuyahoga county, where Sawyer was running ahead of Davey more than two to one.

Bulkley, Taft Win.

Ohio nominated a staunch New Dealer, Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, and a vigorous critic of President Roosevelt's polices, Robert A. Taft, as Democratic and Republican candidates, respectively, for United States senator.

Bulkley, Harvard classmate of the president who endorsed his bid for re-nomination on a New Deal record, ran more than two to one against former Gov. George White,

COUNTY CLIMBS ON BANDWAGON

Rolls Up Lead of More Than 1,200 for Sawyer; Takes 46 Out of 50 Precincts.

Richland county boarded the Charles Sawyer bandwagon in Tuesday's primary election as the Cincinnati gubernatorial nominee wrested the Democratic nomination from Gov. Martin L Davey in a nip and tuck race that rounded out a most unusual chapter in Ohio election history.

When Richland tabulations were completed at an early hour this morning, Sawyer led Davey by 1,270 votes The governor's rival polled 5,338 votes against Davey's 4,068 in the country's 90 precincts

In sweeping to Sawyer, Richland county joined the metropolitan areas of the state. Populous Cleveland, Cuyahoga county, Cincinnati and Hamilton county pulled Sawyer to the front while "ruralite"

BACKS GARNER

Senator Endorses Vice President for 1940 Nomination.

NEW YORK —(INS)— United States Senator Edward H. Burke, (D) of Nebraska, New Deal critic, today endorsed Vice President Garner for the 1940 Democratic nomination for president. Sailing on the S S. Manhattan, Senator Burke told reporters: "I am for John Garner. He stands on both feet, and is safe and conservative."

With the senator was Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, of Washington, New Deal backer. They are to investigate labor conditions in Europe.

Attempt to Solve Mystery Regarding TVA Land Leases

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (INS) — Just why TVA authorities waited until 1937 to act on warnings received in 1934 of "bad faith" in the Berry marble quarry leases was a mystery engrossing a congressional committee investigating the huge federal project today. The commission's perplexity was sharpened after Evans Dunn, TVA assistant general solicitor in charge of the marble cases, said TVA counsellors knew as early as 1934 there was evidence of bad faith in Senator George L. Berry's $5,000,000 claims for some 241 leases which he actually bought at $1 each.

He said two memorandums warned the authority that the claims of Senator Berry and his colleagues appeared to be an attempt to hold up the government agency.

Various Items About Eating

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE'S A BUNCH of items from our grab bag, and we hope that you'll grab 'em and make good use of same. First of all, we want to answer a question that has been put to us about sardines or brislings. Why sardines why brislings, and what's the difference, ask many readers

Well, it seems that Sardinia, which gave its name to the little fish called sardines now, wants it back and wants it used only for those fish caught in its own waters. Smoked sardines, as the Norwegians prepare them, are "brislings," and that's what Sardinia wants us to call them. So whether it's sardines from the south, or brislings from the north, try the little fellows with crackers and pearly onions and cocktail sauce for a first course tonight.

Hints on Ices.

Home-made ices are very cooling, and making your own is simple if you know the secret. For best results, make ices with smooth mixtures and quick freezing. Too much sugar slows up freezing and is responsible for grains. Mint ice is refreshing and coolly correct. To serve six, you'll need a cup of sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup, one cup water, one-half cup fresh mint or mint essence, one cup unsweetened pineapple juice one-half cup orange juice and one egg white. Cook together syrup sugar and water to 240 F (soft ball in cold water.) Remove from stove add crushed mint leaves and cool. (If essence is used, add with fruit juices.) Strain, add fruit juices and pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Freeze for 30 minutes, then remove. Beat well, and add stiffly-beaten egg white. Return to refrigerator and freeze until firm.

Banana savory with pineapple sauce is making its debut here and now. Clip this recipe for your file and serve it soon, for it is a brand new way with ham. It calls for three firm bananas, salt, six thin slices of cold boiled ham, bottled horseradish, thinly-rolled pastry, milk or melted butter and one-half cup canned, crushed pineapple. Peel bananas and cut crosswise into halves. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Spread ham thinly with horseradish. Wrap a slice of ham around each banana half, then roll each in pastry, leaving ends open. Brush lightly with milk or butter. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) about 20 minutes or until pastry is browned and banana tender. Serve hot with hot, crushed pineapple over the top of each serving.

WHAT PRICE PETTING?

Play-Boy Fathers Can't Talk

This is another in the series of articles on petting being presented on The News-Journal Woman's Page by the famous authority on problems of love and marriage, Beatrice Fairfax. In these articles Miss Fairfax tells the whys and wherefores of modern youth's "psychological revolution" in regard to petting, and discusses the fundamental dangers of petting along with the attitudes of both the old and young.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority On Problems Of Love And Marriage.

If you happen to be one of those optimistic fathers who proclaim at intervals they "never intend to grow old," and then discover to your horror that your daughter goes on petting parties, hold tight to your sense of humor.

Curb the impulse to indulge in such patriarchial platitudes as "in my days" To be in a position to give advice to your daughter, be sure, first, you are not a petter yourself It's a domestic parable of "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone"

In these days of lightning gadgets, telephones and high-powered cars, news flies fast; if you're a petting father, you can hardly hope to keep the fact from your daughter.

A few days ago, a letter came to this column telling of a father, full of "righteous" indignation, overtaking a car in which his daughter was participating in a little road side petting. After giving her a scorching call-down, the irate father invited the young man who was her escort to step out into the road and have his block knocked off.

The situation would have lacked the comic element if father hadn't with him the siren who had broken up their home and brought about a divorce in the family. As the daughter wrote me:

"The nerve of him, daring to pull strict stuff on me when he broke my mother's heart years ago and forced her to get a divorce!"

On this occasion, a sense of humor would have saved father from being the fool he made of himself: for, in the recriminations which followed, the siren, as well as the petting parent, got the full benefit of the daughter's reactions..

There are times when a sense of humor is almost the equivalent of a conscience. We may fall into sin and hope to obtain grace. But to have an audience for our flagrant absurdities carries no thought of mercy.

This seems to be "Father's Day" in discussing parents. In a day or two, we'll have "Mother's Day" and discuss those fascinating forty-ish ladies, who are irresistible to daughter's boy friends.

Women have been accused of a lack of humor, but it's safe to say the wisdom of Eve would have prevented any mother from calling down her daughter in circumstances similar to those related above.

The impulse to become better than we are is a force that cannot be subjugated. The girl's father had this force paramount when he chastened his daughter for following in his own footsteps.

"A chip off the old block," was the girl's parting thrust as she whirled away, leaving her father and his siren to make the best of it.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

My pulses increased their tempo a bit as I realized that Queen Olga's query concerning Katherine had paved the way for me to establish the status of the little nurse in our house. It was one that was never questioned by any of us, save Mother Graham, and by her only when in one of her captious and unreasonable moods.

But I knew something of Old World prejudices, and that the former queen of Transvania might very well raise the query which Katherine had foreseen.

It was a query which I was determined never should be raised, and while I cast about in my mind for just the right words with which to clothe my information, I took refuge in playful imperiousness.

"I will tell you all about her just as soon as you finish this cup of hot milk which she has sent you," I told her. "Olina, will you please sit back of your mother on the couch and raise her head very gently against you? No very much, mind! Just enough to permit her to drink this with comfort."

Olina obeyed with alacrity, and slowly her mother sipped the hot milk, then lay back again, with no sign of exhaustion I had secretly feared might follow her exertion.

Recalls Promise.

"That was so good," she said softly, smiling up at me. "And now, you promised to tell me where the other so lovely lady went, and who she is."

"She hasn't gone away. I said. She's still in the room, and will come back to you in a few seconds. And as for who she is, she is a relative, as well as a dear friend. She is my cousin's wife, staying with us while her husband is in the wilds of South America, he is a civil engineer. And we are so fortunate to have her here just now, for she has wonderful skill in nursing, having served with distinction during the World war."

Her eyes brightened.

"Ah'" she said with admiration in her voice. "That is so wonderful. What is her name?"

"Her name is Mrs. Bickett, Katherine Bickett," I said.

"The last name doesn't matter," she said, and for a moment I wondered. Was Queen Olga reverting to type? Then she spoke again.

"Katherine! What a beautiful name—as beautiful as her face. Will you ask her to come here, please?"

I raised my voice ever so slightly. "Katherine, Dear, Ogla wishes to speak to you, I think."

Purposely, I had used the simple form of address for which she had asked. But my heart was in my mouth as my winsome kinswoman came over to the couch and smiled down at the wasted figure lying there.

"What can I do for you?" he asked.

"Please stay close to me, Katherine," Olga said, while my pulses began to pound again, this time with anxiety. "I may call you Katherine, may I not? And will you call me Olga?"

There was entreaty in the large, liquid eyes lifted to hers, and I knew what had happened The magnetic quality of my kinswoman, which had given her such signal success as a nurse, had once more reached out and captivated a patient The tormented soul and body of the exiled queen had sensed healing and comfort in Katherine, and like a hungry child she was reaching out for what she wanted

Characteristically, Katherine did not hesitate for an instant, but I knew she would have faltered if she had detected the slightest insincerity in the queen's words.

"Why, of course! my dear Olga," he said. "And now will you rest quietly for a few minutes? I do not want you to go to sleep, but simply to lie still and gather strength for your journey upstairs to your room."

"She never can walk," Olina put in hastily, while her mother said softly, "Hush! Child! I think I can"

"You won't even be permitted to try," Katherine said firmly, smiling down at her. "There are plenty of our men to carry you upstairs. You won't even have to put your feet to the ground."

"That will be nice," Olga said smiling back. "And may Olina be in the same room with me?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

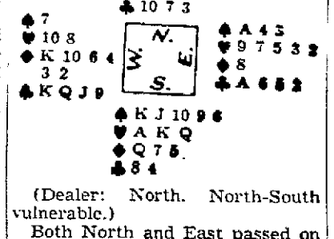
"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO FOR ONE CHEAP

There are times when it is cheap insurance to have your side use up two good cards on a trick One of these comes when you overtake your partner's high lead in order to launch a defensive plan which is clearly visible to you but out of sight of him Among such plans are those whereby you can set up a defensive ruff for yourself by leading a singleton back to him.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Both North and East passed on this deal and South started the bidding with 1-Spade, which West overcalled with 2-Diamonds. When North put in a bid of 2-Spades, South took the contract to 4-Spades.

The club K was West's opening attack and when the trick held he followed with two more rounds of the suit, the last of which South ruffed. The trump A was next knocked out and declarer was able to take the remainder of the tricks.

A little foresight by East could have set the contract. He held the trump A and was bound to get in early. He should have overtaken West's original lead with his A and laid down his singleton diamond. Then when the first spade was led, he could have gone in with the A and put West in the lead with a club. West would certainly have understood from East's play that a diamond return was in order.

Tomorrow's Problem.

After the lead of the diamond K, how should South try to make 4-Spades?

Varied Themes.

Two feature films, entirely different in theme and character, make up the Majestic bill for today and Thursday. Nothing could be further apart than the picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," with Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore and Jackie Cooper, and the gay musical romance "The Variety Girls" which features Patricia Ellis and Jack Hulbert. England's Fred Astaire. The first one is the widely known story of the boy who found adventure on a pirate ship and a buried treasure. The second feature is laid against the background of Paris with a millionaire and a chorus girl in a dancing-musical romance.

"52nd Street."

Reminiscent of "Show Boat" in that it covers two generations of show folks is Walter Wagner's "52nd Street," opening at the Ritz today for a two-day engagement. It starts with the brother of two wealthy sisters marrying a cabaret entertainer and the action carries through the changes that come to him, the sisters and his daughter and the other people of 52nd street. Ian Hunter is the brother. Zasu Pitts and Dorothy Peterson the two sisters; Pat Peterson the daughter, Kenny Baker is the son of a great chef. Leo Carrillo. Character players are Sid Silvers and Jack White. On the same bill is "Walking Down Broadway," a drama of what happens to pretty girls who challenge Broadway.

SAWYER TAKES DEM PRIMARY IN LATE RALLY

Forges Ahead to Win After Hot Battle, During Which Lead Often Changed Hands.

one-time Klondike gold prospector. White was making his third try for the senatorial nomination.

Taft, son of the late president and chief justice, built up a decided advantage over Arthur H. Day, Ohio supreme court judge. They had waged an intensive verbal fight. Day charged Taft with trying to "buy" the nomination through "tremendous campaign" expenditures and Taft replied that Day was conducting a "mud-slinging" contest.

Those were the major races in a primary which perhaps was the most bitter in Ohio's modern political history.

Hit at 'Corruption.'

Sawyer charged that "graft and corruption" marked the Davey administration and demanded a purge of the present administration. The governor, seeking a third term, praised his regime as "one of the cleanest in the country" and charged that CIO Chieftain John L. Lewis sought to "dictate" to Ohio through Sawyer.

Counting was slow in the state's 8,601 precincts. Besides the headline contests, voters nominated candidates for congress, state and county offices and approved or rejected bond issues totalling $46,000,000 to finance local communities' share in a huge spending-lending construction program.

Early unofficial returns in the major races gave:

Davey 366,542, Sawyer 373,704 (7,629 precincts).

Bulkley 389,604, White 163,280 (6,985 precincts)

Taft 273,368, Day 194,609 (7,319 precincts).

The Republican gubernatorial nominee was former Atty Gen John W. Bricker who was unopposed. He was the party's state standard bearer in 1936, but lost the election to Davey in the Roosevelt landslide.

Two New Dealers Win.

Two of Ohio's three anti-New Deal congressional incumbents, Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus and John F. Hunter of Toledo, appeared to have defended their positions successfully while a third Harold G. Mosier, evidently was unseated by former Congressman Stephen M. Young, a "100 per cent" New Dealer. Young and incumbent Congressman John McSweeney raced ahead of Mosier for two state-wide Democratic nominations for congressmen-at-large.

Those congressional contests provided the principal New Deal issue among Democrats. Both Bulkley and White campaigned on New Deal platforms, although the former governor was less ardent in his praise

Rivals of 1934.

Davey and Sawyer camps remained confident of victory as the two rivals for the nomination in 1934—which Davey won—raced neck-and-neck in the early hours. Earlier, Sawyer held for several hours a comfortable lead

The CIO had threatened to "kill Davey politically" for his assignment of national guardsmen to protest a "back to work" movement in the Ohio steel areas last summer. The governor's action virtually ended a CIO-sponsored strike of "little steel" workers

Indictment of 18 Davey aids on charges of illegally obtaining campaign contributions from civil service employes and the social security board's threat to cut off federal pension allotments because of Davey's alleged attempts unlawfully to solicit support from pensioners marked the governor's bombastic campaign with Sawyer

Bulkley, who voted for President Roosevelt's supreme court proposal and went "down the line" with the administration on other New Deal proposals was prepared to campaign for further expension of social security legislation and other Roosevelt policies.

The senior senator was particularly loud in his campaign praise of the present federal system of administering relief

Taft seeking his first public office since serving in the Ohio legislature, has been conducting a lucrative law business in Cincinnati Bulkley by profession, is an attorney at Cleveland

Liberal old age pensions handled on a "pay-as-you-go" basis further development of unemployment insurance return of relief administration to local control a revision of farm policies and tax reductions through elimination of extravagant expenditures of government bureaus were portions of Taft's platform

Declaring that with increased federal expenditures there was "a real threat of perpetual dictatorship" Taft said in a summary of his program "the Republican party should stand four-square for the return to basic principles of individual freedom on which the success and welfare of the country has been built for 150 years."

Two Hot Races

Competition for minor state offices furnished two hot races

John J Kennedy of Cleveland, making his first bid for public office, gave incumbent State Treasurer Clarence J Knisley a stiff battle for the Democratic nomination.

Kennedy was slightly behind, but there were indications that the result would not be determined until final returns were in

The same situation prevailed in the Republican race for supreme court for term beginning Jan. 2, William L Hart of Alliance, former court member, and Edward C. Turner of Columbus, former attorney general, were staging a see-saw battle

With three-fourths of the returns reported, Hart was ahead by 2,000 votes.

Metzenbaum Wins.

Fiery James Metzenbaum, who served as counsel for the senate graft-hunting investigating committee, captured the Democratic lieutenant governorship and will be opposed in November by Paul M. Herbert, who romped away with the Republican nomination

Metzenbaum, a Clevelander and former state senator, had as his nearest opponent in a field of eight, House Speaker Frank R. Uible

Herbert, the 1936 Republican nominee, lost the election to Lieut. Gov. Paul P Yoder of Eaton, who retired from politics this year Herbert defeated Charles Bracher, former Dayton city commissioner.

Griffith Runs Ahead.

Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead publisher and Republican nominee for secretary of state two years ago, took a decided edge in a field of four this year. Secretary of State William J. Kennedy was unopposed for the Democratic nomination

In a fairly close race for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, Don H. Ebright, Akron finance director, held a comfortable lead over another Akron resident, M Herbert Hoover, who has been a candidate for the office three times.

Thomas J Herbert, Cleveland's flying assistant law director won renomination as the Republican candidate for attorney general, defeating State Sen. Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta. Herbert lost two years ago to Atty. Gen Herbert S. Duffy in the general election. Duffy was unapposed this year for the Democratic nomination

Wanamaker Beats Boyd.

Common Pleas Judge Walter Wanamaker of Akron, son of a former Ohio supreme court judge, will oppose Chief Justice Carl V Weygandt for that position on the court Wanamaker was nominated by Republicans over Clinton W. Boyd, Middletown attorney, while Weygandt had no opposition on the Democratic ticket

Judge Edward S Matthias of Van Wert a member of the court since 1915, and Reed M. Winegardner of Columbus, a former assistant attorney general, were unopposed on the Republican and Democratic tickets, respectively, for the court term beginning Jan. 1.

The winner of the Hart-Turner race will meet Judge Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati, who lacked opposition on the Democratic side.

Bender, Marshall Win.

In the Republican state-wide contests, George H Bender and L. L Marshall, both of Cleveland, the 1936 nominees, emerged victorious for two positions in a field of five

Two district congressmen, John F Hunter of Toledo and Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus, whose opponents charged them with being opposed to New Deal policies, won fairly easily.

Seven district congressional candidates four Democrats and three Republicans, were unopposed. They included Congressmen Dudley White (R) of Norwalk, and Democrats Brooks Fletcher of Marion Robert T. Secrest of Caldwell Lawrence E. Imhoff of St Clairsville and Robert Crosser of Cleveland

Besides White, two former Republican congressmen, William Hess of Cincinnati, and Chester Bolton of Cleveland, were nominated Hess and Bolton were defeated in the Roosevelt landslide two years ago

Townsenders Win.

Ohio Townsend forces, which made 10 primary congressional endorsements saw five of their candidates emerge winners Four of them were Democratic incumbents Hunter Michael J Kirwan of Youngstown Martin L Sweeney and Anthony A Fleger of Cleveland Walter Woodward Belleville (Richland county) farmer apparent nominee in the 17th district, was the fifth

Labor's non-partisan league, the Committee for Industrial Organization's political unit, endorsed all incumbents but Hunter, Lamneck White and James G Polk in the sixth district Polk easily defeated James Richardson of Portsmouth, a CIO choice

FORMER MAYOR BEATS 2 TO WIN COMMITTEE JOB

McFarland Polls 3,000 Votes More Than Either Opponent in G. O. P. Contest.

Earl A. McFarland, former mayor of Masfield, defeated two opponents Roy B. Gardner, Mansfield, and Carl R. Harding to win the nomination of the Republican state central committeeman from the 17th district.

The contest, although it was not widely publicized, created a great deal of interest among Republicans in the county district.

A greater interest in the contest however was shown in Mansfield because it was a keen fight between McFarland and Gardner, once friendly Republican workers in the county, and now bitter enemies.

Polls 8,813 Votes.

The total votes cast for the three contestants in the six-county district are, McFarland, 8,813, Gardner, 5,283, and Harding 5,028.

McFarland laid claim to the right to represent the district as central committeeman because he had served as mayor of Mansfield, and Richland county executive committee chairman.

The total votes cast by each county are:

	M'Farl'd	G'dner	H'd'ing
Richland ...3,029	1,137	5,028
Ashland 776	503	383

COUNCIL FACES RATE QUESTION

Plans Discussion of Gas Ordinance at Meeting Monday Night.

SHELBY — Shelby's controversial gas rate question is expected to be brought before city council Monday night at its regular session, city officials stated today.

Although probably no ordinance would be in readiness for the meeting, Councilman Charles Swanger, leader in Shelby for lower gas rates, said that he "would propose that council take action on an ordinance to replace the present five-year 'sandbag' contract with the Ohio Fuel Gas company which has been expired for the past six months."

Shelby is now paying 71 cents per 1,000 cubic feet a month for the average 5,000 consumer, the fifth year of the "sandbag" rates A gas company proposal with rates similar to the present contract and contain the controversial "sandbag" clause was rejected by council several months ago

A lower schedule calling for 68 cents per thousand cubic feet a month for the average 5,000 foot consumer submitted by Councilman Swanger lost on its second reading by a tie vote. No other schedule has been considered by the council.

New Deal Senate Stalwart Unseated In Idaho Primary

POPE LOSES TO CONSERVATIVE, RETURNS SHOW

Mrs. Caraway, Given Blessing of President, Holds Safe Lead in Arkansas.

(By International News Service)

BOISE, Ida. — Lead of conservative Rep. D. Worth Clark over Senator James P. Pope, New Deal stalwart, in the Idaho primary race for the Democratic senatorial nomination increased with late returns today.

A total of 603 precincts complete, of the state's 802 precincts gave:

Clark, 30,137.

Pope, 27,528.

"Cowboy Ben" Ross, three-time governor emerging from a two year retirement following his defeat as Democratic nominee against Senator Borah, held a slight lead in the hot three-cornered battle for Democratic nomination for governor.

Ross Takes Lead.

In 603 complete precincts, Ross polled 17,029 votes, followed by incumbent Governor Barzilla W. Clark with 16,634 and Lieut-Gov. Charles G. Gossett with 13,540.

National issues were not present in the gubernatorial race, Ross campaigning for "vindication" following recent grand jury indictments against several state officials he appointed, and Clark Basing his campaign upon a "record of efficiency." Gossett banked upon his control of a large portion of the farm vote.

Mrs. Caraway Leads.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (INS) — United States Senator Hattie W. Caraway had an apparently safe lead today in her race for renomination as the votes were counted in yesterday's Democratic primary.

With 1421 precincts out of the state's 2,002 counted, the vote was Mrs. Caraway, 68,444; Rep. John L. McClellan, 62,712; J. Rosser Venable 1,479.

Divine's Cohorts Find Krum Elbow an Ideal Paradise

NEW YORK—(AP)—Back from the "Promised Land" today rode Father Divine, Harlem evangelist, and 2,000 devout disciples, eyes still shining with the wonder of their new paradise on the Hudson.

Returning after a two-day boat excursion to the latest of the cult's 34 heavens, they expressed complete satisfaction with "Krum Elbow," the 500-acre tract on which they hope to establish a "self-contained" colony of 3,000 persons. The tract lies across the river from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate.

Commenting on this yesterday, Father Divine, "God" to many of Harlem's 300,000 residents, said:

"I couldn't have a better neighbor, could I?"

$55,000 BOND ISSUE REJECTED

Montgomery Township, Ashland County, Votes Disapproval.

ASHLAND—A $55,000 bond issue which would have paved the way for the construction of a $100,000 centralized school in Montgomery township was rejected at the primary election yesterday by a vote of 188 to 130.

The issue, which fell far below the required 65 per cent majority for passage, called for the issuance of $55,000 in bonds to match a $45,000 grant by the federal government.

Republic Steel Fires Blast At Labor Act

Up and Down THE STREET

Seen Out of the Window: Imagine the consternation, disgust or what have you, of the members of the editorial department of The News-Journal, who having worked all night compiling election returns, looked out their third-story window with heavy-lidded eyes this morning to see a city policeman fastening tags to their automobiles, which they hadn't had time to move—and probably had forgotten they had parked on Walnut street where the signs say "Park 30 minutes". The officer needn't worry—the owners of the cars will pay their dollars.

Elections may be a lot of excitement to the people who do the voting, but to Arliss F. Porter, clerk of the Richland county election board, they aren't anything to get excited about, apparently. Which may explain why Porter decided, with only a couple of contests left to tabulate early this morning to obtain final and official returns, that it was time to go to bed, and let the tabulating go—much, it might be added, to the dismay of newsmen who were willing to go without their sleep in order to provide returns for the hundreds of Mansfielders who wanted to know the final details.

To Sharon township went the distinction of sending in the first official report of the 1938 primary in Richland county. The board of election members waited until well past 9 p. m. before the first ballots were received, and they no sooner started tabulating the Sharon votes when a steady stream of returns started.

* * *

Truth is stranger than fiction. A four-column picture of a pre-Fourth of July accident near here in which four were injured fatally appeared in a Portland, Ore., newspaper, and a native of that city who saw the picture wrote to friends here to inquire whether they might have been involved in the smash-up. Unusual as it may seem, they were. The recipient of the letter and photo were Mr. and Mrs. Matt Pamer of R. D. 5, whose car figured in the accident. Mrs. Pamer was among the injured. The photo was snapped by a passer-by and sold to a news service, which sent it all over the country for publication.

HONORS EVEN?

Auglaize, Clinton Again First to Complete Returns.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Rivalry between Auglaize and Clinton counties in being first of the 88 counties to complete the count of their election ballots continued at this year's primary election with honors about equal.

Auglaize was the first to report 10 precincts, 8:30 p. m. Clinton was five minutes later.

Clinton, however, came in with its complete county vote at 11:25 p. m., while Auglaize did not get its complete vote in until 15 minutes later.

Auglaize probably will contend, however, that it takes longer to compile the total in its 41 precincts than for Clinton to make up its totals from only 36 precincts.

HOLMES OKAYS BONDS, LEVIES

3 Issues to Finance School Improvements and 2 Levies Given Approval.

MILLERSBURG — Bond issues and special levies had a "big day" in Tuesday's primary election in Holmes county. Three bond issues for school additions and repairs and two levies for school expenses carried.

A $26,000 bond issue for an addition and repairs to Nashville school passed by a vote of 117 to 45.

The Millersburg-Hardy school district bond issue for $21,000 also was approved by a one-sided vote of 617 to 254. The bonds will finance the erection of a three-room addition, new indirect lighting system and improvements.

In the Big Prairie school district where an $18,000 bond issue was put on the ballot, the vote was 348 for and 60 against. The bonds were sought to build an addition to Holmesville high school and for repairs. In all 348 voted for the bonds and 60 against them.

Two special levies of two mills each received favorable votes in two school districts. Walnutcreek rural school district okayed a two-mill general operating levy by a vote of 130 to 70.

The Paint rural district also approved a two-mill general operating levy for a two-year period for general construction work and equipping of Pleasant Hill school. The vote was 140 for and 74 against.

BALTIMORE BATTLES TO KEEP BIRD TO FACE HOLD-UP CHARGES

BULLETIN

BALTIMORE —(U.P.)— Charles Bird, Ohio badman whose leadership of a gang of desperadoes won him the designation "public enemy No. 2," waived preliminary on seven charges of robbery with firearms today and was held for the grand jury in $175,000 bond.

BALTIMORE, Md. —(U.P.)— Determined to fight attempts to extradite Charles Bird, current public enemy No. 2, Baltimore authorities will arraign him today on seven local holdup charges carrying prison terms totaling 140 years.

Bird's wife, Barbara, an expectant mother, faces arraignment on one charge of robbery with a deadly weapon, a crime punishable by 20 years' imprisonment.

Announcing that he would oppose any attempts to transfer the couple to Cleveland, Boston or any of the dozen or so cities where they are wanted, Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Biddison rushed arrangements to have them arraigned today before a police magistrate.

He expects to begin presentation of their cases to the grand jury on Thursday and then to move immediately for trial.

"We have excellent cases against the Birds here and we see no reason for giving them up either on the federal charges or the local charges in other cities," he said.

The federal charges involve robbery of National banks in Cleveland, crossing state lines in stolen automobiles and possession of an army pistol. Only Cambridge, Mass., police have indicated so far that they want the Birds, who, allegedly held up a National Biscuit Company plant there May. 19.

Bird, a slender, blue-eyed youth, was questioned until a late hour last night by Biddison and Detective Captain John Cooney whose men seized the pair Monday night after trailing them for six days and nights.

Earlier he stood in the glare of powerful spotlights on the lineup platform and taunted Captain Cooney because five of the 15 holdup victims and witnesses were unable to identify him.

"You're not doing so well, are you Cap?" he smirked.

OK'S SEPARATION

Denmark Grants Petition to Barbara and Count.

COPENHAGEN—(INS)—The former Barbara Hutton, American-born Woolworth heiress, appeared well on the way toward a divorce from Danish Count Haugwitz-Reventlow today after the Danish government granted the petition of the estranged couple for a marital separation.

This was regarded as the first legal step toward dissolution of their marriage in a divorce court —an event expected to take place in about a year.

Meanwhile, the countess, who went from London to Paris, was expected to continue on to Italy. Later, according to London and Paris rumors, she may return to the United States to attempt to regain her American citizenship which she formally renounced last winter.

ASSERTS RIGHT TO STATE OWN SIDE OF CASE

Files 616 Exceptions Against Proposed Decision by Labor Board.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Republic Steel corporation attacked the constitutionality of the National Labor Relation board's administration of the Wagner act today and asserted a right to state its opinions of the purposes, aims and nature of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The charges were made in 616 exceptions and a 136-page brief, opposing a proposed decision by the board against the company, in preparation for oral argument before the board tomorrow. The exceptions attacked almost every section of the proposed order which finds Tom W. Gordler's company guilty of violating the Wagner act during last year's little steel strike.

Denies Board Charges.

The board had ruled that the strike was caused by Republic's "unfair labor practices." It directed the firm to reinstate 5,000 CIO strikers with back pay beginning five days after their application for reinstatement and to disestablish allegedly company-dominated unions at five Ohio plants.

Republic's brief denied that its alleged unfair labor practices caused the strike and asked the board "to frankly and candidly state in its final findings upon this subject that the strike at respondent's (Republic's) plants was caused solely and proximately by its refusal to sign the so-called Carnegie-Illinois contract presented to it."

Republic defended the right of Girdler, the board chairman, the management and supervisory officials to present their opinions of the CIO.

"We contend," Republic said, "that the National Labor Relations Act, as construed by the board in this connection is unconstitutional as abridging freedom of speech by the respondent."

The company reiterated its objections to reinstating strikers found guilty in Ohio state courts of assault and battery, rioting, malicious destruction of property, interfering with and obstructing railroad tracks, and carrying concealed weapons.

Parents Soon to Learn If Eye Operation Succeeded.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Anxious parents today awaited the result of tests to determine whether four-months-old Helaine Colan may be spared the sight of her one remaining eye.

The baby, rushed here by airplane from Chicago, has been placed under the care of Dr. Algernon B. Reese, noted eye specialist, at the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

Helaine's affliction was described as glioma of the retina, a disease which causes death when it reaches the brain.

Dr. Reese declared that, with the consent of the parents, he would take complete charge of the case while Helaine is under his care.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Gene Tunney's Attack on Whisky Institute Shows A Lack of Appreciation

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Gene Tunney's denunciation of the Distilled Spirits Institute as a thing without social consciousness or soul was a severe shock to those of us who had let ourselves believe that the institute was something really fine.

The very word institute suggests solidness and unselfish purpose, and then, too, the selection of the late W. Forbes Morgan as the Will Hays of the grog industry seemed to suggest that the institute was conducting itself in accordance with the ethics of the White House. That was reassuring, too.

Morgan, an uncle of Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, had been treasurer of the Democratic party, but only the diseased mind of a Liberty leaguer would toy with the thought that he was chosen for a job paying $100,000 a year for any other reason than his own special fitness. The salary was $65,000, but there was also a fund of $35,000 a year, similar to the president's own travel allowance, of which he was not required to give a minute account.

Had he used his thumb on his official travels in the interests of the spiritual side of the whisky trade, or had he driven his own car like those congressmen who collect 20 cents a mile for travel which costs them a tenth of that, the savings would have been his.

The fact that the whisky industry owed its very life to the head of the party for whose triumphs Mrs. Roosevelt's uncle had toiled had nothing to do with his selection for a $100,000 job as head lobbyist for the industry, and if those low individuals in the audience who just pursed their lips and blew a vulgar note repeat the offense they will be thrown out.

We will have decorum here and a proper respect for the crown.

Mr. Morgan died before he could do much to quicken the social consciousness and kindle the soul of the whisky trade, but it can never be said of the Distilled Spirits Institute that it failed to discern special fitness. For, in time, the institute looked about for a man to serve the same high ideals in the publicity line and with the same true instinct selected Mr. Norman Baxter, who had worked on a New Deal campaign paper in the state of Maine in the election of 1936.

The journal carried a message to the bleak and dour Yankees, but, although your average citizen of Maine can hear a dollar bill drop on a feather bed on the other side of an oak door, they were deaf to Mr. Baxter's call.

The whisky trade was more responsive, however, and Mr. Baxter now draws $20,000 a year, a fact which surely will arouse no ill-will against the trade in the higher councils of the Democratic party. It bespeaks a nobility which the party will not miss if Mr. Tunney does.

And even if it be granted that there were other reasons why the whisky trade created a $100,000-a-year job for an uncle of Mrs. Roosevelt and a $20,000-a-year job for another loyal worker, surely Mr. Tunney were lacking in one of the finest qualities in the soul of humankind to object to that. If Mr. Tunney has no appreciation of gratitude, then, perhaps it is well that he and his own whisky firm, the American Distilling company, withdraw from the institute and go their way alone. Gratitude is expensive, but a beautiful thing.

Mr. Tunney will now be the object of all eyes as he undertakes for the whisky trade the same mission that he attempted on behalf of Chicago in the celebrated civic uplift spectacle with Jack Dempsey on the lake front. That endeavor, it may be remembered, was intended to make Chicago a better place to live in, and although the benefits are not yet apparent maybe it just takes time.

But if a socially conscious man with a spiritual mission in the hootch trade will permit a suggestion from one who has suffered occasionally it will be a simple plea that he join Charles Lindbergh on his island and devote his life to the removal of the hangover ingredient. If Mr. Tunney has ever known that dreadful woe he should need no urging. If he hasn't, then what right has he to mess with the ornery soul of whisky?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Like to pick the new stars as they start to climb? This week's preview grind will give you a field day.

New talent like this makes you wonder what the factories are yelling about.

Scarcity of leading men? There's a good bet named Bruce Lester in "Boy Meets Girl." There's another in "Garden of the Moon." John Payne's the name. It's not a new one, but it hasn't clicked before.

Do they want a sure thing in the comedy sweepstakes? Let 'em look twice at Marie Wilson.

And a potential child wonder? Let 'em listen to the mammas and grandmas clucking over Donnie Dunagan of "Mother Carey's Chickens."

"Boy Meets Girl" takes Hollywood for a dizzy ride on a mile-a-minute track of dialogue. It's fast, furious, funny, and it tops the stage version. You know the story—or where have you been. Cagney and Pat O'Brien are the looney film writers. Marie Wilson's the waitress who spawns the prodigious infant Happy. Bruce Lester's the boy friend—after the fact, nicely glossed over for the censors. Ralph Bellamy's the producer, and Frank McHugh the agent. Dick Foran's the cowboy. Lloyd Bacon mixed the ingredients with accent on speed and the laughs spill over the sides of the dish. In Hollywood, anyway.

There's more fast talk in "Garden of the Moon." Pat O'Brien providing most of it as manager of a local night club easily identified as the Cocoanut Grove. It's feud stuff—Pat versus John Payne.

Payne, James Stewart-ish in appearance, got this role originally intended for Dick Powell. After previous false starts, he acts and sings this time to do his wife (Anne Shirley) proud. Margaret Lindsay, too often a stick of a lass, shows new life.

Director Busby Berkeley took these principals, a host of supporting players, some good tunes and smart showmanship values, and whipped up what looks like a sure-fire click. Important in the story is Jimmie Fidler, movie commentator, playing himself.

If you like simple, appealing, human stuff you'll go for "Mother Carey's Chickens." Not much of a plot. It relies on romantic, amusing, heart-warming incident for its major strength. Family stuff, and good.

Anne Shirley (doing John Payne proud) and Ruby Keeler, playing straight with no dancing, share the romantic burden with Frank Albertson and James Ellison. Fay Bainter is the widowed mother, excellent but granted little opportunity for brilliance. The new child Dunagan is sensational—cluck, cluck!—in that tangled wallpaper scene, and the whole piece, under Rowland V. Lee's direction, carries a cumulative warmth.

"Give Me a Sailor" tones down Martha Raye and presents her transformation from an ugly duckling into a legs-contest winner with Glammer and It. Bob Hope, very smooth, and Jack Whiting are the young men involved, and Betty Grable is the selfish sister.

I laughed myself into fits at some of Martha's early business—that beauty mask sequence in particular—despite a premonition about the turn things would take when she quit clowning and Began to It. My worst fears were realized. Martha had better give up Glammer—especially in the vicinity of the Gorgeous Grable.

Mickey's Dismissal O.K. With Detroiters

But Majority Agree That Cochrane Should Have Been Offered a Chance to Retire More Gracefully.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MICKEY COCHRANE'S sudden dismissal as pilot of the floundering Tigers was not criticized as severely in Detroit as in other baseball centers.

MICKEY COCHRANE

Some of the Detroiters stated that the dismissal was the best thing that could happen, while others declared the ousting of Mickey a "dirty rotten shame." However, the majority agreed on one point, and that was that Cochrane should have been offered a chance to retire more gracefully.

Looking over some of the opinions expressed by Tiger followers following the dismissal, we find these: "I think it is a dirty shame that they had to announce Mickey was fired."—Attorney

"I think it's a grand change. Last year, every time Mickey was laid up the Tigers won under Del Baker."—Stenographer.

"I don't know a lot about the situation, but I understand he didn't get along with the team."—Cab driver.

"It seems to me they should have given Mickey a chance to resign."—Truck driver.

"I'd like to see what the team does under Baker before I start to criticize anybody."—Hotel manager.

"I wasn't surprised to hear about Mickey being fired. I figured there must have been some dissension on the team the way they have been playing all season."—Private secretary.

* * * * *

A poll of the Tigers on the change in management by a Detroit paper revealed the unanimous opinion that they were surprised, not to say, shocked by the news of Cochrane's removal; that they were sorry to see Cochrane go and that since his departure had been decreed, they were happy to hear Del Baker had been named his successor. Of course, one could not expect any of the Tigers to express a contrary opinion.

* * * * *

It Was in the Cards, Says Detroit Editorial.

A DETROIT paper in an editorial said: "The passing of Mickey Cochrane from the Detroit baseball picture is a shock, however, clearly it was in the cards. For months it has been evident to informed followers of the game, in the stands and in the press box, that Cochrane was no office general. At the front with his men, the fire and force of his immediate presence were the difference between a good ball team and a champion. As a director from the rear, he was not successful and he was unhappy."

And a Detroit sports editor, who is credited with recommending Cochrane to Detroit owners for the managerial post four years ago, added: "Cochrane, in our opinion, was the greatest field leader in the history of baseball. No one, that we ever heard of, matched him for inspirational play. He had the knack of lifting a team as no other player could.

"On those days when he sat on the bench because of injuries or fatigue, Detroit looked like a different team. It played mechanical baseball. The dash, spirit and competitive fire were missing.

"It was apparent that Cochrane was successful only when actually in the lineup. He was a field leader but not a bench manager."

* * * * *

Comparing the new pilot with Cochrane, the sports editor said: "Baker and Cochrane represent different types. Baker is even-tempered, Cochrane is highly nervous. Baker has eternal patience, Cochrane is impatient. Baker is a man of a single mood, Cochrane is a man of many moods. Baker never becomes completely discouraged, Cochrane often does. Baker is deliberate, Cochrane is impetuous. Baker is sound, Cochrane often superficial."

* * * * *

And that's the way Detroit feels about the Cochrane dismissal.

Quality At O.S.U.

It'll Be Chief Ingredient of Ohio's 1938 Big Ten Football Squad.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Quality instead of quantity loomed as the chief ingredient of Ohio State university's 1938 football squad today as 46 players, the smallest contingent in years, were invited to report Sept. 10 for "two-a-day" workouts in preparation for the opener with the University of Indiana on Oct. 1.

Last season Coach Francis A. Schmidt summoned about 60 players for the early-season training, but this year he will concentrate on four full teams and a few replacements.

Condition Demanded.

That he will start with intensive work as usual, instead of consuming time with calisthenics, was indicated by Coach Schmidt's letter to his aspiring gladiators. He said: "We will start hard work Sept. 10. Your chance to show well will depend upon how good a condition you report. Begin by taking 10-yard 'wind' sprints and plenty of jogging to build up your legs and body."

FRITZ HOWELL

Schmidt, now on a Canadian fishing trip with Athletic Director L. W. St. John and Line Coach Ernest R. Godfrey, will confer with his co-captains, Carl Kaplanoff of Bucyrus and Mike Kabealo of Youngstown, here Aug. 15.

In his four years as mentor of the Bucks, Schmidt has compiled an enviable record in Western conference games, winning 18 and losing three. No Big Ten team has beaten him twice. He has conquered Chicago and Michigan four times each and Purdue once for clear records against those schools, and has constructed "3 and 1" marks against Illinois, Indiana and Northwestern. The Hoosiers, in beating Ohio 10 to 0 last season, piled up the greatest margin over the Bucks.

Michigan and Purdue have failed to score against Ohio in Schmidt's four years, while the Bucks amassed 458 points to 70 for the other four foes.

Players invited to report Sept. 10 are:

Quarterbacks: William Bullock of Kent, Don Scott of Canton, Jimmy Sexton of Middletown, John Simione of Youngstown and Tom Welbaum of Akron.

Left halfbacks: Bill Coyer of Orrville, Co-Captain Mike Kabealo of Youngstown, Jim Strausbaugh of Chillicothe and Albert Zuchengno of Dover.

Right halfbacks: Roy Elliott of Grindstone, Pa.; Frank Howe of Columbus, Frank Zadworney of Cleveland, John Santschi of Akron and Howard Wedebrook of Portsmouth.

Fullbacks: John Raab of Akron, Forrest Fordham of Toledo and Jim Langhurst of Willard.

Centers: Charley Maag of Sandusky, Steve Andrako of Trinway, Dick Wuellner of Columbus and Claude White of Portsmouth.

Guards: Howard Chappell and Joe Madro of Cleveland, Charley Gales of Niles, Campbell Graf, William Nosker, Frank Smith and Jerry Spears of Columbus, Vic Marino and Nick Rutkay of Youngstown and Amel Tucci of Zanesville.

Kaplanoff Back.

Tackles: Co-Captain Carl Kaplanoff of Bucyrus, Joe Aleskus of Columbus, Harvey Bolser of Lockland, Jerome Grundies of Cleveland Heights, Donald Oman of Richwood, Andy Rosen of Isabella, Pa., Alex Schoenbaum of Huntington, W. Va., and Louis Young of Massillon.

Ends: Keith Bliss and Stuart Whitehead of Columbus, Ross Bartschy of Orrville, Frank Clair of Hamilton, Wendell Lohr of Massillon, Esco Sarkkinen of Fairport Harbor and Quent Williams of Cincinnati.

Register 9th Straight Win

Canzols Defeat Eagles, 13 to 3, in Senior League.

The Ira D. Ling Canzols registered their ninth straight victory in the city recreation Senior baseball league when they defeated the Eagles, 13 to 3, at Liberty park yesterday. The Canzols scored in every inning but one as they trounced the lodgemen.

Kenny Lockhart, with a double and single, Smollen, with two singles, and Kenny Lockhart, with a triple, led the attack for the Canzols. Karl Theaker gave the Eagles only two hits and struck out 10 while issuing only four walks.

Favored To Beat Ambers

Henry Can Become First Man to Hold 3 Titles at One Time Tonight.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—The improbable Henry Armstrong, an intelligent little colored fellow with spindly legs and a fantastic amount of stamina, will be shooting at fistic immortality when he meets Lou Ambers, the lightweight king, in a 15-round title fight tonight at the Polo Grounds.

If he beats Ambers as he is favored to do, Armstrong will hold the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight championships. He will, presumably, have proved himself the greatest fighting man in the world between the 118 pound bantamweight limit and 147 pounds, where the middleweights begin.

FIGHT ON AIR

The lightweight championship fight between Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers in New York City tonight will be broadcast via WJZ-NBC at 9 p. m.

Lots of Difference.

That is a span of 29 pounds, right out of the heart of boxing. No fighter has approached such a record before.

Armstrong gave Barney Ross, the aging welterweight champ, a fearful beating last May. That made Henry champion of bigger men than Ambers, according to the books.

Henry figures to have a lot more trouble with Ambers than he had with Ross. Ambers, though colorless, is a clever little man with a fighting heart and good legs. All he needs to make him a great champion is a punch.

Both are good at sewing up a man in the clinches. Ambers made Pedro Montanez, a powerful right-hand puncher, look silly for 15 rounds last fall. Here again he will find Armstrong a problem, because it's next to impossible to clinch with the colored boy. In close he just keeps on jerking his head about, heaving with his shoulders and socking with his fists. Ross, incidentally, has picked Armstrong to win.

Poor Gate Looms.

Unless there is a last-minute rush, the receipts might not top $75,000. Considering Armstrong's record and the goal he is shooting at, that is small money. He again will be taking the short end of the purse tonight. Henry has done everything except make big money.

Legion Can Enhance Title Chances Sunday.

The Mansfield Legion representatives can enhance their chances to appear in the play-off for the Central Ohio semi-pro league championship Sunday when they play in Lancaster.

The Legionnaires, who have lost only one game in the second half, face one of the stronger clubs remaining in the circuit in Lancaster, and the winner of this game will meet Jackson a week from Sunday to determine Newark's opponent in the title series.

Indians Snap Out of Long Plate Slump

Stage Comeback in Second Game After Losing Opener.

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians, battling against almost insurmountable odds for the American league pennant, today gave indications of snapping the batting slump that tumbled them out of the lead and made them second choices to the world champion New York Yankees.

Cleveland broke even in a double-header here yesterday, winning the nightcap 8 to 1 after losing the opener, 4 to 3. The split enabled the Tribe to pick up one-half a game on the Yankees.

Feller Weakens.

Bob Feller started in the box for Cleveland and after hurling effectively for seven innings began to weaken. After giving up only three hits in the first seven rounds the Iowa farmboy permitted the first two men up in the eighth to hit safely and when he pitched two balls to the third man Manager Oscar Vitt jerked him.

Vitt's move was a poor one. Regardless of how bad Feller might have gotten he could not have fared any worse than Denny Galehouse who succeeded him. A single and a double sent Galehouse to the showers and Johnny Humphries came on to finally retire the side after three runs had crossed the plate.

The Indians had scored twice in the fourth and once in the fifth to overcome a one-run lead the Browns had established in the first inning.

Whitehill Master.

In the second game Earl Whitehill, veteran southpaw, scattered nine hits and was never in trouble after Cleveland scored five times in the second inning.

Sheriff Hurls No-Hit Game

Yanks Unable to Hit Ball, Lose 5 to 0.

Probably the finest bit of pitching ever witnessed in a city recreation game was turned out by Russ Sheriff of the Athletics yesterday when he hurled a no-hitter against the Yankees to win 5 to 0 in an Intermediate league tussle at the Fairground.

Sheriff accounted for 13 of the 15 putouts in the five inning game with strikeouts. The other two putouts were made at second on attempted steals. There was not a single fair ball hit.

Only four men reached first base. Three got to the first station on passes and the other got there when the catcher dropped a third strike and overthrew first base.

In the other Intermediate league game, the Senators, although held to one hit by Pappus, defeated the White Sox, 4 to 3.

Notice, Tennis Players!

All first round matches in The News-Journal tennis tournament must be completed by Friday night. Entrants unable to complete their matches within the specified period must default to permit the eliminations to progress as scheduled.

All matches must be reported by 9 a. m. Saturday so that second round pairings can be published in Saturday's issue of The News-Journal.

Expect Crowd At Fairground

One of the largest crowds ever to witness an all-star game staged by the city recreation department is expected at the Fairground at 6 p. m. today when the Tigers engage the Intermediate league all-stars. The Tigers won the right to meet the all-stars by holding down first place at the completion of the first half of the season.

PROSPECT PARK JUNIORS TURN BACK PLYMOUTH, 9-3

Leaders Head Golf Schedule

A good line on which way the championship of The News-Journal Class B golf league will go will be offered after Thursday's play at Possum Run.

With only one more week of play remaining on the schedule, the match between the leading Bissman company golfers and Metal Vaults will have a definite bearing on the title. The Bissman four holds a three-point lead at present.

The News-Journal meets Al's Kicks. O. P. S. faces the Auxter Motors and Elks tackle Central Fruit in the other matches.

KOBACKER STORE TRIMS JOHNS PARK JUNIORS

Led by Wade, who collected three hits, the Kobacker store softball team defeated the Johns park Juniors, 5 to 3, at Columbia field yesterday. The Storemen tallied three runs in the first half of the last inning to win the decision.

SHELBY CYCLE SEES GREATEST FALL BUSINESS

Company Official Tells U. S. Accessories Show Firm's Ready for Boom Times.

The Shelby Cycle company, one of the major industries in Shelby, is planning for the greatest fall business in its history, H. Clyde Brokaw, executive of the company, told delegates to the National Automobile Accessories show in Chicago, International News Service dispatches to The News-Journal said today.

Brokaw was one of 5,000 manufacturers and buyers attending the exposition, and representing 30 states.

Officials of the accessory show predicted a revival in business in the motor car industry this fall which would bring accessory manufacturers $800,000,000 worth of business during the coming year.

Bases Forecast on Buying.

Declaring he had been informed automobile plants at Detroit would begin large scale production on new models about Sept. 15, R. Garland Ames, show manager, made the forecast after studying reports from the 5,000 buyers from 30 states attending the accessories exposition. He declared:

"In hard times people restrict buying to necessities, our business is largely extras. People are beginning to loosen up their purse strings for these articles of semi-luxury character. When they do that, the upturn is here."

Brokaw declared "we are faced with the greatest fall business in history."

The Shelby concern is one of the largest manufacturers of bicycles in the country.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

HE'LL TRY AGAIN

Findlay Flier to Attempt to Let Plane Fall With Parachute.

FINDLAY—(AP)—Mike Murphy, Findlay airport manager, and widely-known stunt flyer, is developing a new acrobatic feat which he hopes to demonstrate during air shows this fall. Murphy plans to let his small airplane drift to earth with a parachute three times the "man size" model. Twice he has failed to accomplish the trick.

MINOR LOSSES TURN MARKET TO DOWN SIDE

Traders Keep Close Watch on Foreign Affairs, Fear Jap-Russo War.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Continuing its drift in a narrow course, the stock market turned to the downside for minor losses today. The marktime policy in trading camps was apparent in the thinness of dealings.

Most bonds showed little change in a quiet market. Commodities were uneven in light dealings.

Traders still kept close watch on foreign affairs, fearing the Japanese-Russian border struggle might portend other moves toward war. However, the rush for gold in London slowed and foreign currencies held better against the dollar than in recent sessions.

Comment from trade authorities and business readers harped on a hopeful note for the business future.

The "Iron Age," in its weekly summary said "better prospects are piling up for the steel industry, indicating a continuation of the upward trend." Electric power output continued its climb.

Retailers and mail order houses were reported expanding their orders for finished textile goods in anticipation autumn trade would be close to 1937 levels.

VOTERS SWAMP RELIEF LEVIES

Proposed Two-Mill Measure for City Defeated in 47 Out of 50 Precincts.

to 56 against the city levy and 69 to 56 on the Madison levy.

Other precincts to carry were 5 F, Madison B and E, which supported the Madison levy.

10 to 1 in One Precinct.

The city levy met with the greatest defeat in precinct C of the Sixth ward where it was opposed by a vote of 159 to 15, while the Madison issue was defeated in the same precinct by a vote of 137 to 39.

The defeat of the measurers now leaves the question of raising aproximately $100,000 annually up to city officials while Madison township trustees also are faced with the same problem of finding $50,000 to finance their relief burden for the coming year.

Mansfield has long since depleted its relief funds with unpaid food bills totaling more than $35,000 and is faced with the same problem that confronts Madison township which is nearly $5,000 in debt.

COUNTY CLIMBS ON BANDWAGON

Rolls Up Lead of More Than 1,200 for Sawyer; Takes 46 Out of 50 Precincts.

counties piled votes upon votes for Davey in a ballot spree that came close to matching the vote the state's "big counties" gave Sawyer.

It was a Sawyer victory in 46 out of 50 precincts in Mansfield and in 17 precincts out of 40 in township and Shelby precincts. Twenty-three rural precincts gave Davey an edge while only four Mansfield precincts batted in the governor's lineup.

Two of the city precincts which "went Davey" were Precinct B of the Fifth ward which voted 107 to 64 against Sawyer, and Precinct D of the Fifth ward which gave Davey a two-vote margin, 94 to 92. Third Ward B in the city gave Davey a 59 to 55 edge and Precinct W of the Sixth went Davey 58 to 54. All the rest were in the Sawyer column.

There were 13,686 voters who walked into the precinct voting booths yesterday. This was more than 3,000 greater than the number voting at the primary election in 1936, and ranked among the "heavy voting" primaries of recent years.

Richland voters marched along with the rest of Ohio in giving Senator Robert J. Bulkley a victory over George White, former Ohio governor, in the Democratic U. S. senatorial contest.

Bulkley was given a more than two to one majority over White in returns here. Unofficial totals for the county's 90 precincts gave Bulkley 5,668 votes against 2,714 for White.

While Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, rolled up a majority of better than 80,000 to win the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination in the state, Richland county gave his opponent, Supreme Court Judge Arthur Day, a majority.

Day polled 2,661 votes against 2,394 for Taft.

In the 17th district congressional races, veteran Congressman William A. Ashbrook snowed under Frank Cave, former speaker of the Ohio House, and Lee Purdy, his two opponents for the Democratic nomination.

The county gave Ashbrook 5,036 votes, against 2,504 for his closest rival, Cave, and 571 for Purdy. Ashbrook held a substantial victory in the other five counties of the district.

The Republican race in the same contest was won in the district by W. B. Woodward of near Bellville who campaigned as a supporter of the Townsend old age pension plan. Woodward failed to carry his own county, however. He polled 1,666 votes against a higher county total of 2,814 given Philip Wolfe, former state senator of Mansfield, but bested Oliver H. Dockery of Newark who received 493 Richland votes.

In the only two strictly Richland county contests, Ralph C. Lutz, incumbent, won the Democratic nomination as state representative for a chance at a third term, and H. H. Maxwell of Lexington, was the Republican winner.

Lutz Beats Cook.

Lutz defeated David Cook of Shelby, by an overwhelming vote of 5,129 to 2,582. Maxwell counted out L. Max Daugherty of Mansfield, 2,306 to 2,045.

Richland county's vote for the Democratic nomination as state senator from the 27th-29th district gave William F. Hurley of Lorain a vote of 3,767 against 2,861 for Maurice C. Brown, also of Lorain, but Hurley lost to Brown in the district total vote.

In the Democratic contest for lieutenant governor, Richland gave James Metzenbaum 1,791 votes to lead the field of eight candidates. The county vote for the others was: Ed Day, 1,364; Frank H. Ward, 1,342; Frank R. Uible, 892; E. M. Steele, 429; John P. Rogers, 577; H. J. Halper, 327, and Taylor Davidson, 477.

In the two-way race for the same nomination in the Republican ranks, Paul M. Herbert was given 3,588 votes against 795 for Charles A. Bracker.

Richland gave Clarence Knisely a vote of 9,259 against 3,709 for John J. Kennedy for renomination as state treasurer of the Democratic ticket.

The Richland vote for the Republican nomination as secretary of state gave Earl Griffith of Mt. Gilead the lead over three opponents. Griffith's vote here was 2,166, against 1,231 for George E. Turner, 586 for Edward J. Hummel and 407 for J. L. McCarthy.

There was no contest in the Democratic ranks for the secretary of state post, William J. Kennedy being unopposed.

Thomas J. Herbert polled 2,164 votes here against 1,116 for Verner Metcalf in the G. O. P. contest for attorney general. Herbert S. Duffy, incumbent, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The county's vote for congressman-at-large on the Democratic ticket gave Stephan M. Young 4,410 votes to lead Harold G. Mosier with 3,147, and John McSweeney with 3,348.

The congress-at-large vote on the Republican ticket in the county gave George H. Bender 1,952 votes to lead R. J. Jeffreys with 1,388, L. L. Marshall with 1,415, C. E. Wharton with 891, and C. G. L. Yearick with 1,259.

In the Republican judicial races, Richland county gave Walter B. Wannamaker 2,304 votes to lead Clinton D. Boyd with 1,847 in the contest for chief justice of the Ohio supreme court; Carl V. Weygandt, incumbent, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

William L. Hart led his opponent Edward C. Turner, 2,196 to 1,704 in a Republican race for Ohio supreme court justice. Robert N. Gorman, Democrat, was unopposed for the same post.

A four-way Republican race for another supreme court post gave G. K. Allen 1,416 votes, Lawrence Rich 411, R. L. Struble 671, Frank H. Ward 1,282.

On the Democratic ticket in the same court contest Richland county gave W. C. Dixon 1,948 votes, J. E. Bowman 1,896, F. F. Smith 1,628, and T. I. Kowan 422.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE BEATEN

Measure Lacks 410 Votes of Needed 65 Per Cent Margin.

school children of Mansfield who lost the opportunity to attend schools free from hazards when their parents turned the issue down, but we are going to keep on fighting."

Of the city's 50 precincts and the three in Madison township which are a part of the school district, only six turned the issue down, but it was enough to cause the collapse of the entire building program for at least another year.

Three of these precincts were located in the Fifth, two in the Sixth and one in the Fourth ward, while the First, Second and Third wards carried in every precincts.

Outside of the Second ward, the three precincts in Madison township led the field with a percentage of 60.7 favorable vote cast for the issue.

The bonds met with their greatest defeat in Precinct D of the Fifth ward where a negative vote of 129 to 61 was cast. It carried with the largest majority in Precinct D of Ward 2, where a favorable vote of 157 to 46 was cast.

The school building program which would have benefited by the $550,000 bond issue included the program for construction of two new junior high school buildings, the installation of sanitary equipment in the elementary school buildings, and a shop addition at the Senior high school building.

The proposed project would have included the expenditure of $1,000,000, and of the entire amount the federal government would have made to the city an outright grant of $450,000. The remainder was to have been financed by the $550,000 which was turned down yesterday by the voters of Mansfield.

ery and 6,400 for Wolfe.

Meanwhile, Ashbrook had an easy time in the Democratic primary and final tabulations showed he had a vote that was close to four times larger than that received by Frank Cave of Mansfield, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, his closest opponent.

Ashbrook received 23,661 votes, against 6,455 polled by Cave, and 2,235 received by Lee H. Purdy, of Coshocton, third candidate in the race. The veteran congressman, now serving his ninth term, rolled up big majorities in all of the counties in the district.

Ashbrook, in a statement today, expressed appreciation to "those who supported me and those who did not, because I received decent consideration from all". He added "my pledge is the maintenance of my record."

A table showing county results for both the Democratic and Republican district congressional races is given below:

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

THRESHING

I WENT to help my neighbor thresh. Got there about eight. The morning dew was heavy, and the farmers who came with teams and wagons had not yet arrived. After he had adjusted his machine and lubricated all the moving parts the thresherman stood about impatiently.

"I have three jobs to do today," he said "and I'll be a liar if I don't get on the third before evening. Jones made me promise faithfully . . . I'll see how it goes."

Just then the first wagon came slowly up the road. I heard another coming from the east. Two other men and I grabbed pitchforks and hopped on the empty rigging. The driver urged the team to a slow trot down toward the lower end of the wheat field. The boy who brought the wagon and Jim, his helper, loaded sheaves while Henry from Kentucky and I pitched them on. It was the first load, and we tossed them up so rapidly the loaders were confused.

When the rack grew heavy and stood a high rank of sheaves above us, the creaking wagon started to the barn. Another empty one was waiting. We pitched this one on then another . . . many others. The sun got terribly hot. Sweat dropped from my nose and chin, but we kept the good work up, and by noon the job was finished. From eleven acres the boys had threshed hundred bushels.

"I reckon that don't pig with what all you boys said Hon- . . . southern drawl. "He'd rightly been stompin when he was planning that fall."

Dinner was announced and was welcome. It didn't take us long to reach the broad extended table. Henry ventured the opinion "A dinner never looked any better."

Homemade bread and butter mashed potatoes, chicken and gravy, hot biscuits, cheese, cucumber salad, apple sauce and . . . pie. Plenty of strong hot coffee with cream. It was a typical threshers dinner, served in country fashion.

MORROW GIVES DAVEY LEAD OVER SAWYER

Governor Gets 600 Margin as Bulkley Leads White by Nearly Two to One.

MT. GILEAD—Morrow county gave Gov. Martin L. Davey a majority of nearly 600 over Charles Sawyer in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at yesterday's primary election, complete unofficial returns showed today.

Davey received 1,398 votes with Sawyer receiving 701.

Robert J. Bulkley received 1,092 votes against 697 for George White, former governor, in the contest for the Democratic nomination as U. S. senator.

In a Democratic contest for county office, C. H. Patzer defeated O. E. Smith 1,014 to 793 in the race for representative in the general assembly.

Garver Winner.

Democratic voters cast 699 votes for Abe Laird and 1,158 for W. F. Garver for state senator.

In a five-way contest for the Democratic nomination as county commissioner, Burson Utley emerged the winner with 583 votes. His opponents were Charles Beck who garnered 224 votes, Fred Ford with 277, Elton Goff with 549, and J. E. Shults with 355.

Republicans who treked to the polls gave Arthur H. Day 1,074 votes against 643 for Robert A. Taft in the contest for the Republican nomination as U. S. senator.

For state representative, Republicans gave J. G. Mills 1,216 votes against 499 for John Hindman.

George Thomas won a three-way contest for the Republican nomination as county commissioner. He polled 622 votes, against 497 for S. J. Zeger and 565 for Lockwood Smith.

Taking office unopposed were P. H. Wieland, Republican, for common pleas judge, and Harold Taylor, Republican, for auditor.

JUDGE SENDS TWO TO PRISON

Ashland Jurist Hears Guilty Pleas in Attempted Assault, Fraud Cases.

ASHLAND — Roger Hamilton, local youth who pleaded guilty to charges of attempted criminal assault before Judge C. C. Chapman was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for a term of from one to 15 years.

Judge Chapman also sentenced Ralph Meeks to a term of from one to 20 years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to six counts of fraud.

Meeks said that he did not know what made him do the things he did, and added that it must have been the "marijuana weed," which he said can be bought in this county.

Meeks and Hamilton were indicted by the April term of the grand jury, Hamilton on one count, and Meeks on six counts.

The grand jury failed to indict O. H. Parkinson, charged with non-support by his mother.

SERVICES TODAY

FREDERICKTOWN — Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. today at Meredith's funeral home for Mrs. Anna Green, 75, wife of David Green, who died Monday evening at the Knox county home. Burial will be in the Chesterville cemetery.

Born in 1862 in Morrow county, Mrs. Green was a former resident of Chesterville community. Surviving besides her husband are a son, Merrill, a sister, Mrs. Jennie Harris of Marengo, and a brother, John Weir, of West Mansfield.

SHELBY PASSES SPECIAL ISSUES

$100,000 Waterworks Bond Question, 1-Mill Levy Proposal Approved.

SHELBY — Electors of Shelby passed by decisive majorities at the primary election yesterday two special issues, one for the issuance of $100,000 in bonds for waterworks improvement and the other a one mill levy for general city operating purposes.

The waterworks bond question passed by a majority of 73.61 per cent. The vote was 1,106 favoring the issue and 357 opposing. A majority vote of 65 per cent was required for passage.

The question was submitted as a means of financing the installation of a water softener in the city waterworks plant.

The one mill levy was passed 959 to 478, a majority of 66.73 per cent. A 65 per cent majority was also required on this question.

The vote on the levy was for a renewal of the tax for an additional two years. Funds derived from the levy are used for medical care of indigents, and for direct relief purposes.

PROGRAM SET

BUCYRUS — Congregations of Epworth Methodist and Whetstone Reformed churches have been invited to attend the wedding of Miss Margaret Kurtz, organist of the former church and member of the latter, when she becomes the bride of Paul Kuehnle in Epworth church Sunday afternoon.

CHAPTER 12

JULIAN'S words were such a surprise—when he said he was prescribing their Sunday outing for himself—that for a moment Noel couldn't find an answer. If she had been able to, however, she wouldn't have had time, for Julian said then, "Tomorrow at 10—don't forget," touched his hat and crossed the street to the Medical Arts.

As if she could forget—even for one single moment, Noel told herself happily. She went to work at the Peacock that night almost walking on air. She and Julian—a whole day together. The very thought made her heart almost jump right up in her throat.

She was so happy over it, that she actually wanted to cry. In fact, the happy tears felt very close, even though she knew she was acting very silly indeed.

Women were queer creatures, she thought. They always cried when they were happy, when tears were meant to be used for sorrow. Maybe that was one of the reasons women were called the "contrary sex."

When Noel reached the club, she was still in such a glad mood, she didn't even mind the sordidness of the big dance room with the garish red hangings, the huge chandelier in the shape of a ball hanging from the center of the floor with hundreds of crystal pendants, the faded gilt chairs lined up against the walls.

Then quite suddenly she came back to herself with a sense of shock She had gone to the dressing room as usual to slip into the tulle evening frock and gold sandals But the tulle dress was not in its usual place in her locker. It was replaced by a resplendent new one of gold brocade.

She gave a little jump as she stood there staring at the dress, where a low voice spoke in her ears. "The other dress was beginning to look worn and draggled." It was Nick. She would have known that sly, secretive voice anywhere.

She turned around and faced him "You had no right to do this!" she exclaimed hotly.

"Now, wait a minute," Nick Luigi held up an admonitory finger. "Don't fly off like that You can easily pay me back out of your salary That was what I intended, of course.

Noel looked at him in cold and contemptuous silence. Did he actually believe that on a salary of $2 a night, for six nights, that she could afford to buy a new evening dress, especially one as expensive as this brocade? Noel knew clothes.

"You see," Nick went on, his voice low and persuasive, "beginning tonight, you've been raised to $10 an evening Nobody can say that Nick Luigi's a piker."

Noel stared at him white-faced and questioning. "So I've been raised, have I? And what about the other girls?"

"Don't worry about the others You've got something they haven't," Nick said, for once taking the cigar out from the corner of his mouth "You've got class. You're good for the trade So you're really earning more money, and should have it"

"Is that honestly on the level?" Noel asked. "There are no strings?" She asked the question more to gain time than anything else

"Strings?" Nick gave a shrug. "Of course not. Only if now and then you'd come and have dinner with me—just as a—a sort of friendly gesture—"

It sounded reasonable enough. Noel hadn't had any experience with men like Luigi, however, and she was on her guard. She choked back the angry retort that rose to her lips. She would get away from here soon Until then—

She turned and faced Luigi who was standing there looking at her, his pale eyes alight. Noel took the dress down from the hanger "I'll wear it," she promised "But I won't accept the raise. I don't want anything the other girls don't get."

"Not even when I tell you that you bring more people here than all the others put together?" he insisted.

"Not even then," Noel said quietly She added, with a shade of weariness in her voice, "Will you please go now?"

Certainly." Luigi moved to the door Then he came back and said softly, "You will wear the dress and look very beautiful, as lovely as a fairy queen with all your golden blondness And when you are tired, you will stop dancing and rest. And you are not to sit at the tables. Do you understand?'

"I understand," Noel said.

After Nick was gone, she slipped into the gold brocade, though her pride had never been so humbled in her life The gown was entirely backless and much too low in front. She placed a chiffon handkerchief across the low V-neck and was glad to find it worked very nicely as a vestee.

Then she went out holding her head proudly, two brilliant spots of color in her face, quite unconscious that Nick's taste had been unerring, and she had never looked more beautiful.

As usual, she was besieged with invitations to dance, and there were numberless cut-ins. But she had determined not to take advantage of Nick's permission to sit out some of the dances when she was tired. She didn't intend to accept another single favor that was not accorded to the other girls.

When the place was closing at last, and the girls were changing into the street dresses in the dressing room, one of them said cattily, "Miss Doran is a fast worker, isn't she? A new dress, and a big raise—all in one night Pretty good, I calls it."

"Perfect," another girl joined in. This was the first time any of them had been catty.

"How did you know about the raise?" Noel asked the first girl who had spoken.

"Oh, the walls have ears around here. But as a matter of fact, I was standing just outside the dressing room Nick always talks through his teeth, but it's easy enough to understand what he says."

"But you probably didn't understand what I said?" Noel emphasized "If you had, you'd have known that I refused the raise."

The tall, dark girl, the one who had first spoken, stopped in the act of slipping a sleaky silk dress over her head. "Did you really? Then you've got less sense than I gave you credit for Haven't you learned yet that a girl has to take what she can get in this racket?" She turned away contemptuously Noel said nothing to that She finished dressing Just as she was ready to go out, another girl came up to her, a thin pale little thing with great enormous gray eyes "Do you live on Court street?" she asked

Noel nodded "Then we can walk together My name is Maida Smith I've just moved out there myself"

Noel was glad to have company

Maida told her that she was a widow with a little boy. That she had a room and kitchenette apartment, and that the little boy whose name was Joey went to the Madison avenue school.

"And you make the living for both of you?" Noel inquired interested

"Oh, yes. I have a job working in the alteration department of Bracy's," Maida explained "But I don't have work there every day. When the work is slack I'm laid off, that's why I work at Luigi's, so I can be sure to keep Joey in school And after school he makes what he can by selling papers. So we manage to get along."

"He must be a fine boy," Noel said, warmly

Oh, he is Maida exclaimed with pride. Then she said in a lower voice, "I've been wanting to tell you something for some time, kid. About Nick. It's a good thing you didn't take all that money he offered you. You see, he's madly in love with you, so you'd better just watch your step."

Majority Favors School Bond Issue, Minority Defeats Proposal.

BY A MAJORITY of almost 2,000 Mansfield voters yesterday endorsed the proposal to modernize this city's public school system by erecting two new junior high school buildings and making extensive improvements on several of the ancient grade school buildings.

More than 60 per cent of the votes cast on this question were FOR the proposed bond issue of $550,000 to meet the city's share of the million dollar project, in which $450,000 was to have come as a grant of federal funds, without interest or repayment.

The law requires that approval of a bond issue must be 65 per cent of the votes cast—or approximately two to one. A minority of under 40 per cent of Mansfield voters were thus in position to defeat the project—which is a reversal of almost universal American acceptance of majority opinion on matters of public policy.

With a favorable total of 5,558 votes and only 3,624 against the bond issue, there must be a feeling of sincere regret that so small a margin as under 5 per cent will be effective in seriously handicapping Mansfield's public school system for possibly another several years and will jeopardize the safety and health of several thousand Mansfield school children until some other way can be found to provide funds for building new schools and improving old ones.

Defeat of the school bond proposal cannot be construed as meaning that this otherwise progressive city will be content to go along indefinitely in the use of present unsafe, unsanitary and poorly lighted public school buildings.

It means merely that the opportunity to secure a federal grant of $450,000 to augment local funds has been muffed and that Mansfield taxpayers will eventually have to pay the entire cost of new school buildings and alterations to old ones.

Reference to outcome of the school bond proposal must take into account the tremendous effort made by members of the board of education, school officials and hundreds of interested citizens, in attempting to acquaint voters with actual conditions in various school buildings, so that there might be the fullest possible understanding of the urgent need for immediate improvements.

Now that the school bond issue proposal has been approved by a considerable majority of Mansfield voters—and defeated by a minority—the next logical step is to formulate another plan and carry it through as quickly as possible.

The lives, health and educational opportunities of Mansfield's thousands of public school pupils cannot be longer endangered by sectional self interest or individual greed.

Results In City and County.

MANSFIELD and Richland county voters joined in the state-wide display of unusual interest in yesterday's primaries, with Democrats turning out in more than double the number of Republicans as a result of the bitter battle between Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer for the gubernatorial nomination.

In both Mansfield and the county Democratic voters administered a rebuke to the Davey administration by returning substantial majorities for his opponent.

By giving a small majority to Arthur H. Day, Mansfield and Richland county Republicans failed to follow the trend toward Robert A. Taft, nominated as candidate for United States senator.

Democrats of city and county went along, however, with voting sentiment over the state which resulted in renomination of Robert J. Bulkley by a large majority over former Governor George White.

As was anticipated, Congressman William A. Ashbrook was easily renominated by Democrats of the Seventeenth congressional district, his two opponents having been swamped in all six counties.

Nominated by Republicans to oppose Congressman Ashbrook in the November election is Walter B. Woodward, Jefferson township farmer, who announced as his policy: "Enactment of the Townsend plan; no entangling alliances; keep out of foreign wars." Richland and Coshocton counties favored Philip Wolfe, Mansfield contender, while Col. Oliver H. Dockery carried only his own home county of Licking but ran second in district totals.

Democrats expressed approval of Ralph C. Lutz, who has served two terms in the state legislature and is now a candidate for third term. Republicans nominated Harry H. Maxwell, of Lexington, as his opponent.

Time for an Exception.

SENATOR O'MAHONEY, head of the congressional committee which is to conduct the "anti-monopoly" investigation of industry, has announced, in effect, that it will not be a muck-racking expedition. Instead, he said, it will be conducted without fanfare, in an attempt to get at actual facts, and will involve a survey of the economic system as a whole.

It is to be hoped that the other members of the committee approach the investigation in a similar frame of mind. It will not be soon forgotten that many of the so-called monopolistic practices which the government now condemns, were not only approved but made legally obligatory under the NRA codes. In other instances, state laws have forced industry to pursue tactics which in one sense or another may be called monopolistic.

Some congressional investigations tend to turn into inquisitions for political effect. The country as a whole will hope that Senator O'Mahoney is right and that this investigation will be an exception to the rule.

Great Britain expresses willingness to pay her war debt—if we'll lend her the money—and some New Deal financier should be able to work that one out.

When some officials are addressed as "Honorable" it is necessary to keep in mind that this is a title and not a case of poor judgment.

There are all kinds of people, including those who drive through a red light without even realizing that it is there.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—A house committee is resuming the perennial hunt for nazi, fascist, communist and other subversive influences. Rep. Martin Dies, of Texas, master of the hunt, hopes to conduct the chase in a dignified and conclusive manner, with as few headlines as possible.

Hunting subversive influences has always been a great sport in Washington although he would be a foolish lout who thought the huntsmen were not serious about it.

Perhaps the most famous recent hunt was conducted by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York. For days on end Mr. Fish had the country's headlines to himself as he conducted, in the pre-Roosevelt days, a chase of communists. That occurred in the days when this country had not formally recognized Russia and was under no restraints to be polite. Besides, the Russian government at that time (and some will say yet) was committed to the international revolution.

Mr. Fish was not satisfied with hunting communists in this country but went to Russia with the idea of sort of "bringing one back alive." He brought back a live issue that has served as the subject of many congressional speeches by the tall congressman.

Remember General Butler?

UNDOUBTEDLY the most persistent hunter of subversive influences in the country is Representative Dickstein of New York. In 1934 he began an investigation that filled two large volumes of printed testimony. Since then he has filled many pages of the Congressional Record.

At one time Representative Dickstein had General Smedley D. Butler as a witness to tell a story of proposals made to him that he head an organization of veterans designed to set up a "fascist" type of Government in the United States. Butler insisted he was interested in maintaining a democracy, and would have nothing to do with it.

Another time one of Mr. Dickstein's witnesses back - fired on him. The representative was questioning Ernest Schmitz, representative in America of the German tourist offices. It had been the practice of the German steamer lines and tourist services to provide free trips to Germany for artists, newspapermen, and lecturers who, they hoped, would see the "true picture" of the new Germany.

But Mr. Schmitz testified that Mr. Dickstein, as chairman of the house immigration committee, also had asked for a free ticket.

Mr. Dickstein said, however, that he never got a free trip, but paid $500 for it.

"I have got a different statement from the manager of the North German Lloyd, who tells me you got a high-class accommodation at minimum rates for it," said Mr. Schmitz.

"I want to tell you the accommodation was not so good," Mr. Dickstein retorted.

Dickstein Out. Dies In

MR. DICKSTEIN sought to head the current "ism" investigation but the house leadership sidestepped him, left him off the committee entirely and put Representative Dies at the top.

Instead of inviting incidents such as the Butler affair, Dies plans to attempt to measure the "true weight" of such movements as communism, nazism and fascism. He seems to doubt whether that has been done by previous inquiries. As side issues he may:

1—Investigate whether communism is responsible for the labor unrest in the automobile factory.

2—Investigate whether there is enough anti-labor "vigilantism" to constitute a subversive influence

MORE COAT-TAIL HANGERS-ON

Right of Congress To Bar 'Victor'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Membership in congress of several who win the November election may be contested.

An elected candidate can be barred even though there is no doubt that he outvoted all rivals, if it is proved that he got his majority by unethical methods, such as excessive expenditures or the exercise of improper influence in the primaries or in November. Such an exclusion does not seat anyone in place of the excluded aspirant but it leaves that seat vacant until another election has been held.

In my time in Washington there have been three such exclusions by the senate. There may have been more in the lower chamber but it is impossible to keep track of the house of representatives.

OWN JUDGE

The senate is its own judge of its own membership.

It can turn thumbs down on a would-be member if it dislikes nothing except the color of his hair, for example. Of course it is not influenced by any such frivolous consideration. I think that, if it had a good excuse, it might be influenced by his partisan affiliation, sometimes. Theoretically, however, if it bars him it usually is on the ground that his campaign was ridiculously and suspiciously too expensive.

The three senatorial cases I recall were those of Truman Newberry of Michigan, Frank Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

Newberry, during the progress of his contest, while still a tentative senator, received stacks of abusive letters. He once told me that not until much later did he realize that mail, addressed to Truman Newberry, O. S. B., menat Senate Office Building. Smith was supposed to be Illinois' Insull candidate. The Insull empire had not yet toppled then. Names taken from Pennsylvania cemetery headstones, it was testified, were cast in Vare's behalf ostensibly as the cognomens of Keystone State electors.

INCIDENTALLY—

They are saying now in Washington that Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, of Kentucky, who ran against Senator Alben W. Barkley, cannot make out much of a case if he seeks to prove malpractice by opponents in his senatorial campaign on the ground that they poisoned his drinking water.

The argument is this:

A Kentuckian! Drinking water! Naturally it was poison to him.

Anyway, Gov. Chandler was too badly beaten by Senator Alben W. Barkley, supported by President Roosevelt and majority leader, to have serious consideration of making a contest.

BOTH SIDES WARNED

All the same, Senator Morris Sheppard's committee on investigation of charges of senatorial campaign crookedness warned both sides in Kentucky.

The Texas senator is on a pretty hot spot.

He is an exceedingly conscientious old chap and, as a Democrat, I don't question that he would be fair as between Democrats and Republicans. But it is worse than that. He has also to be fair as between Democrats and Democrats — pro-New Deal Democrats and anti-New Deal Democrats.

The senator is a New Dealer, but if he discovered any New Deal dirty work against anti-New Dealers he is too honest not to say so.

FINDINGS ARE IMPORTANT

The Sheppard committee does not decide who shall or shall not sit in the senate at the next congressional session: that is up to the senate itself, subject to election returns and its own subsequent judgment.

Nevertheless the committee's findings are certain to weigh materially.

If it were an issue solely between Republicans and Democrats, the answer would be easy. The Democrats will be in a majority. But it is between New Deal Democrats on one side and a combination of anti-New Deal Democrats and Republicans on the other side.

The Republicans are not likely to be caught in anything nefarious; they have the disposition but not the numbers.

The Democrats have the numbers but not the cohesion.

ALL of US

Gnaw Your Own Bone.

WHAT'S that melancholy noise I've been hearing? That whining, fussing irritation in my ear? What was it, anyway? . . . Don't tell me it was you, my friend, my old acquaintance! You, looking so well, so strong, so fit! It couldn't have been you, I'm sure.

Complaining, you say, because life is both too short and too long, too dull and too exciting, such a bore and such an annoyance! . . Well, I'm amazed. How can you talk such nonsense?

It's true that life can be distressing, but it's never as bad as you say, never for a lad like you. . . . It's true, indeed, that a man grows older, but has he not then the memory of his vigorous youth—and why should it torture him? Why should he always be sighing for that which was and now is no more?

It is true that when a man compares his dreams with what he has achieved, sometimes he is sick of heart and wonders what he has done with his life . . . But the dream is so often beyond the grasp of a man, and only the complacent ever look back on their years and boast that they gained all they ever planned for themselves? . . . May I ask you then to remember what that wise man Henry David Thoreau wrote, and "simplify the problem of life, distinguish the necessary and the real." Probe the earth to see where your main roots run. Stand upon facts. Use your eyes!

Thoreau said that he knew many men who in common things were not to be deceived, who trusted no moonshine, counted their money correctly and knew how to invest it. Who were said to be prudent and knowing, and yet who stood in one place the greater part of their lives and KNEW NOTHING OF WHAT LIFE WAS. If they had known, said Thoreau, "the places which know them now would know them no more forever."

So it was with Thoreau, that wise man who loved to live and knew that the enterprise on which he spent himself was worthy and that for him things worked well and there was no bad news.

"Do what you love," said he. "Know your own bone; gnaw at it. . . . Be not simply good; be good for something . . . And when you knock, ask to see God—none of the servants!"

Does this sound like common sense to you? It does, to me.

Listen, World!

Is There a "Right to Happiness"?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Yes, I know. Maybe I do spoil the youngsters. But I had such a rotten time myself as a kid that I want them to be happy, the way youngsters have a right to be. After all, what's life worth without happiness? And how much do we get of it in this two-timing world? Believe me, I'm going to see that my little shavers get all the fun they can while the getting's good.

You've heard many a fond parent say that, haven't you? Perhaps you have said it yourself countless times. And, chances are, it has never occurred to you to doubt the wisdom of such an attitude . . . nor the devotion behind it.

YET, ACTUALLY, IT VOICES AS STUPID AND CRUEL A POLICY AS ANYONE COULD POSSIBLY ADOPT IN RAISING A CHILD!

For confirmation of this statement, which may be both startling and goat-getting, refer to Dr. Foster Kennedy, Cornell university nerve specialist and noted psychologist. Speaking before the New York Medical Society, Dr. Kennedy recently said that "parents who teach their children that they have a right to be happy, teach a current slogan and a current falsehood."

Happiness, he explained, is not an inherent right, nor even a fundamental necessity for an abundant and successful life. To the contrary, happiness may prove weakening and demoralizing . . . as many a spoiled brat or blase oldster proves.

The important thing in life is not to please yourself. "BUT TO CONTROL YOURSELF," says Dr. Kennedy. "Don't teach your youngster to expect fun . . . don't allow him to think that he is abused unless he has a round of picnics. TEACH THEM TO FACE WHATEVER COMES . . . AND TO MANAGE THEIR OWN EMOTIONS SO THAT THEY CAN TURN ANY EXPERIENCE TO GOOD ACCOUNT."

"Bored youngsters," says Dr. Kennedy, "should learn that boredom is an indictment of themselves" . . . a shameful exposure of their own inadequate resources. Which unpleasant comment might well apply to many a Grown-up, for Dad is as apt to be poisoned by this "RIGHT TO HAPPINESS" philosophy as Junior.

Truthfully does Dr. Kennedy dub this theory a "CURRENT slogan, a CURRENT falsehood." Such a jitterbug program for life was unknown in America 30 years ago. Good Yankees grinned contemptuously at the play-boy and girl antics of the "effete rich." Dads who insisted on being Village Cut-ups at 45 and mothers who were Glamour Gals at 40 were as rare as pink monkies and rated accordingly.

But nowadays you never can tell when some wattled elder will bust out in giggles and begin playing "Pattycake."

"Life was real and life was earnest" . . . and no fooling . . . in pre-war days. You took your lot and made the best of it . . . or did your belliakin' out behind the barn. Self-control and self-sacrifice in the face of drabness, drudgery and disappointment were not moral issues . . . they were plain evidence of decent breeding and good sportsmanship. Whiners, Wheezers, Pouters, Sulkers simply weren't Regular . . . and nobody let them forget it.

Far be it from me to present all the Dear Old Days and Ways through a rosy veil. Or to insist that dreariness and gloom are desirable—per se. I'm as strong as the next for a reasonable amount of good time being had by all. But this prevalent notion that Everything Must Be Perfectly Ducky Or We Won't Play makes me downright homesick for just one more glimpse of that practically extinct article—THE STIFF OLE UPPER LIP!

Just a bunch of sweet-peas . . . that's what we're getting to be. And fast!

NEW YORK—You can now get herio at restaurants in the Syrian quarter. This is a goat's milk broth with herb dumplings and it is highly spiced. Costs 60 cents.

Only 10 plays are now on Broadway . . . If your taste in cocktails runs toward the unusual, try the Oriduou. On second thought maybe you shouldn't try it. Let somebody you don't like very well try it. It's that sort of business, and so innocent looking too, with a ripe red cherry on top.

WITH George Bernard Shaw much discussed because of his new play coming up, it is natural that many of the old Shaw gags be revived. I still think the funniest Shaw story concerns his visit to Russia. One afternoon he fell to talking with a little girl, and they talked so late that it was dark before he realized it.

"You had better run along now," Shaw told her. "And if your mother asks you where you have been, say to her that you have been strolling along the Volga, talking with George Bernard Shaw."

Very solemnly the little girl answered: "And when your friends ask you where you have been, say to them that you have been walking beside the Volga, talking with Sonya Anna Majestivoskinov."

Another anecdote concerns a stack of letters Shaw wrote to a famous actress. Eventually this actress wanted to publish the letters. A magazine offered her a stupendous sum for them, and she was anxious to get the money.

But Shaw withheld his permission. "I refuse to play horse to your Lady Godiva," he said.

Arrogance is apt to get you in trouble if you are an entertainer in New York. A well-known band leader was "fired by the waiters," because he was insolent and overbearing. "It's this way," the headwaiter told me. "This fellow was very rude to us, so every time the boss came around we let ourselves be overheard saying, 'He didn't get any applause at all tonight,' and 'His performance has been flat for a week.' After the boss hears enough things like that he calls for replacements. Maybe it's a little underhanded, but we are human."

Sun Goggles Good for Sensitive Eyes.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SUN GOGGLES undoubtedly save a great deal of eye irritation. Those with sensitive eyes—blue and light irises—find them almost necessities. The summer sunshine on motor highways and by beach and shore is not badly irritating. If you think, however, of what the glare of the sun coming through the thin air of the mountain peaks and reflected from the fields of snow will do; you can see that there are possibilities of trouble in any bright, prolonged sunlight. The mountain snow field glare would cause a severe conjunctivitis to anyone who was long enough exposed. People vary in sensitiveness to this, and instinctively those who would be burned by summer sunlight affect goggles.

Besides the local effect on the conjunctiva, goggles prevent headaches and reflex nervous digestive upsets. I know of two instances where migraine sufferers found that going out in the sun without goggles brought on attacks. Many cases of summer headache must be of the same variety.

Stimulated by an article by Meta Rosenthal in the July number of Hygeia, I have been investigating the varieties and principles of different sun goggles.

After the light rays at either end of the spectrum were discovered—those invisible to human vision—the invention of glasses to strain out some of these rays has gone on.

It is the ultraviolet rays beyond the violet end of the spectrum which cause the conjunctivitis of the unwary mountain climber.

Some abortive attempts at making colored glasses were made by Fieuzel of Paris and Dr. William Thompson of Philadelpiha in the 1880's. Thompson had glasses made with an amethyst tint, and since no good formula for making amethyst glass existed, opticians used old window panes, colored amethyst by long exposure to sunlight. Such were the crude beginnings of the modern industry of colored glasses.

Experiments With Colored Lenses.

But in 1909 the Glass Workers Cataract Committee of Great Britain engaged Sir Isaac Crookes to experiment on adding various metals to the ingredients of glass in order to produce various colored lenses. The committee was so named because they were attempting to prevent a cataract peculiar to glass blowers and considered to be due to infra-red rays.

The result of these experiments was the Crookes glasses which are now the most popular form of sun goggles. They range in color from dark gray, almost black, to almost white.

The needs of the aviator, the motorist and the fisherman or hunter are all somewhat different as regards colored glasses. The aviator needs to be relieved of glare, but he also needs glasses that will not cut off the yellow rays of the sun. The eye sees over large spaces and most clearly by the yellow-green rays of the spectrum.

Polaroid is a new material much in vogue at present. It consists of a film of cellulose with minute crystals of iodine in it, cemented between two flat glass discs. It admits only waves of light which vibrate in a single flat plane. It is a great boon to the motorist, and it is said that automobile headlights will soon be made of polaroid.

Trading Dollars To Get Rich.

Now you can see where the money is coming from to pay pensions of $30 each Thursday to every person in California who is above the age of 50. The payments would be made in scrip, which would be built up to the value of money by the purchase and attachment of 2-cent state stamps—this being done by each person who accepted the scrip to begin with.

In substance this was the scheme of Prime Minister Aberhart of Alberta, who was going to pay social credit "dividends" of $25 a month to every adult in the Canadian province, make smaller payments to minors and children and do a lot of other things for the people's good.

The Aberhart scrip proposition blew up immediately, because nobody would accept the stuff in lieu of real cash. Credulous as many of them are, Californians doubtless would rebel in the same manner—unless, indeed, all those above 50 agreed to use the worthless scrip among themselves, finally converting it into cash by paying out their own money, then getting that back in the form of pensions. — Kansas City Star.

3 INCUMBENTS OUT OF 4 WIN IN HOLMES RACES

Democrats Renominate Fair for 3rd Term; Davey Takes County by 1,300 Votes.

MILLERSBURG — Incumbent Democrats were renominated in three of four contests for Holmes county offices in Tuesday's primary which brought out one of the largest votes in recent years.

The county, which favored Gov. Martin L. Davey by more than 1,300 votes, over his opponent, Charles Sawyer, cast a total of 4,200 votes of which 3,637 were Democratic.

State Representative A. Lee Fair, seeking his third term, was renominated by more than 1,000 votes over his nearest opponent in a four-cornered race. The vote was: Fair, 2,130; Ray M. White, 1,026; Paul M. Hitchcock, 399, and Harvey Gardner, 253.

Another incumbent, State Senator W. F. Garver also came out of Holmes county with a commanding lead in yesterday's primary. Garver polled 2,235 votes to 1,667 for Abe Laird.

Out for his third term, County Auditor H. E Gray was renominated on the Democratic ticket by defeating John C Schuler and W. F. Work. Gray received 1,522 votes to 1,162 for Schuler and 952 for Work.

County Treasurer Ruby Walter, the other Democratic incumbent seeking renomination, was unopposed She polled 3,018 votes

Commissioner Defeated.

The scramble for the Democratic county commissioner nomination eliminated John Schoppert, an incumbent. Schopper trailed Clifford C. Lower who won the nomination with 1,066 votes. Schopper polled 851, Elie Close 677, J. A. Yoder 578 and T. E. Sheneman, 532.

In the only contest on the county Republican ticket, Walter G. Nickels received a vote of 366 to 195 for Charles Maston in the Republican race for state senator.

Like practically all rural counties, Holmes was definitely in the Davey column in the day's principal contest The governor polled 2,337 votes to 1,300 for Sawyer.

In the other contests on the Democratic ticket Holmes county voters favored Frank R. Uible for lieutenant governor; Clarence H Knisley, incumbent, for state treasurer; Robert J. Bulkley, incumbent U. S Senator and John McSweeney and Stephen M. Young for congressmen-at-large.

In the 16th district congressional race, William R. Thom, Democratic incumbent, easily won over the veteran Jacob S Coxey, sr., and Herman W. Seikel.

Howard H. Nist topped his nearest opponent by 25 votes in the Democratic state central committee contest. Lucille Cameron received a 934 to 913 edge over Ann Ryan for member of the women's state central committee.

On the Republican ticket, Holmes voters gave majorities to Paul M. Herbert for lieutenant governor; Earl Griffith, secretary of state, M. Herbert Hoover, treasurer of state; Verner E. Metcalf, attorney general; Arthur H. Day for U. S. Senator, and George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall for congressmen-at-large.

G. O. P. LEADERS LOOK TO INDIANA

Count on Washington Rally to Get Fall Campaign Off to Lively Start.

WASHINGTON—(AP) — Republican leaders here are counting heavily on a party rally in Indiana Aug. 27 to get their fall campaigns off to a lively start.

The resource of the national committee will be thrown behind the gathering at Capehart Farms, near Washington, Ind. Such varied activities have been arranged that it begins to appear more like a miniature convention than any ordinary political hobnobbing.

The rally, at which leaders predict an attendance of 50,000 will be preceded by a meeting in Indianapolis Aug. 26 of candidates and party officials from a dozen midwestern states.

National Chairman John Hamilton, Senator Townsend of Delaware, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the house campaign committee, are scheduled to attend.

Selection of Rep. Wadsworth of New York to make the keynote address has aroused interest here because he is regarded generally as one of the most conservative Republicans in congress. Whether his known conservatism had anything to do with his selection as a keynoter, however, has not been disclosed

CAPITAL OUT TO HONOR CORRIGAN

Dignitaries Who Once Frowned at Infractions of Rules Now Greet Air Hero.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Capital dignitaries who three weeks ago cast dark, official frowns at an unpredictable youth named Douglas Corrigan, today tripped over each other trying to spread Washington's welcome mat for him.

With the amazing Douglas slated to hop from Baltimore by plane shortly before noon, an imposing list of greetings, topped by two cabinet officers, a diplomatic minister, and the head of the bureau of air commerce, awaited his arrival.

Anticipating a demonstration unequalled since the Lindbergh reception in 1927, District of Columbia officials assigned 400 policemen and 400 firemen to patrol eight hours of Corrigan activities starting with a parade down famed Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues and ending tonight with a dinner at the National Press club.

Highspots scheduled for Corrigan's reception included a call on Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper and Denis Mulligan, head of the air commerce bureau, who sternly suspended Corrigan's pilot license while he was on a ship enroute home and couldn't have used it anyhow.

SET AT $167,000

City's Balance Up $55,000 Since May 1, Auditor Says.

A monthly report forwarded to city council today by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley showed that the city of Mansfield had a running cash balance of $167,028 on hand Aug. 1 This is nearly $55,000 more than the balance on hand May 1 when the books were last balanced.

The total includes $177 in the general fund, $26,534 in the water works fund, $3,433 in the sanitary sewer fund, $10,901 in the garbage fund and $125,981 in the special fund.

Kelley said that although the general fund showed only a meager balance that it would be bolstered by the end of the month by approximately $45,000 from the current real estate collection which closes Aug. 20. He said the large balance in the special fund was due to the $64,000 in bonds issued for the Woodland water improvements besides another $30,0000 issued in general bonds for improvements in several city departments.

JAIL PLEASES YOUTH

RECEIPTS UP

July Court Collections $157 Above June Revenue.

Municipal court receipts totaled $1,406 in July, an increase of $157 over the revenue for June, accerding to the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer, deputy clerk.

A part of the increase was attributed to the rise in fines in criminal and traffic cases over the previous month although a noticeable increase also was shown in the civil branch.

From the total receipts, the city's general fund will be increased by $948 while $458 will be distributed to the state, county and the law library

Fines and costs collected in city criminal cases totaled $158 40; traffic forfeitures $210 75; city's share of state highway patrol cases $145 65, forfeitures in criminal cases $106 50 and costs payable to the city from state cases, $130 10.

OPEN SESAME!

Watchful Eye Of Agents Brings Bootlegging Arrest.

CAMDEN, N. J.—(AP)—Federal agents, seeking the source of untaxed liquor, saw a passerby stamp three times on a manhole cover. The cover promptly opened, and an arm thrust out a botle.

The agents also stamped three times. They grabbed the arm—its owner. Beneath the street they found nine gallons of illegal liquor.

NEW SENATOR TO SIT IN SENATE FROM DISTRICT

Hurley Beaten in Democratic Primary, Brown Opposes Rogers in Fall.

Richland county will be represented by a new senator at Columbus next year. This was assured yesterday when Maurice C. Brown, Lorain, defeated William F. Hurley, incumbent senator, in the Democratic primary.

Brown will be opposed in the November election by P. H. Rogers of Grafton, who was unopposed Republican candidate for nomination in the 27-29th district four-county race, which includes Richland, Ashland and Medina counties.

Brown Takes 3 Counties.

Hurley was defeated by a majority of 868, according to unofficial returns from the four counties Brown carried three of the four counties.

Both Brown and Hurley are from Lorain county. Brown carried that county with 5,923 votes, a lead of 1,213 over Hurley who received 4,710. In Medina county Brown received 752 votes, and in Ashland, 1,756 Hurley received 675 in Ashland county, and 1,272 in Medina. Richland county was the only one Hurley carried. The unofficial total was 3,767 for Hurley to 2,861 for Brown.

Brown at present is serving as councilman in Lorain. This has been his only political experience. Hurley is now finishing the one term he has served as senator from the 27-29 district. Rogers, the unopposed Republican nominee is a member of the house of representatives.

Lutz Wins.

In the race for representative to the general assembly in the Democratic primaries, Ralph C. Lutz, former mayor of Lexington, was nominated as candidate for his third term as the county's representative. He is now serving his second term in that office.

Lutz defeated David C. Cook of Shelby by a majority of nearly 2,500 to win the nomination. Lutz received 5,098 votes and Cook 2,600. Lutz will be opposed in the November election by Harry H. Maxwell, Republican, also of Lexington, who defeated L. Max Daugherty of Mansfield for the Republican nomination. Maxwell received 2,306 votes and Daugherty 2,045.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, August 11.

A DAY of what may be deemed devastating excitement and disruption is read from the ruling mutual and lunar aspects There may be a suddenly-precipitated swirl of events that may lead to romantic and adventurous experiences or to hazards or defeats. In any event, the friendship and sound advice of an elderly friend should be sought.

If This is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may not have to complain of the palling monotony of the year ahead. They probably will be caught up in a whirlwind of events of a disintegrating, upheaving and exciting force that may land them into high adventure and romance or to peril, depending on their own self-government and the friendly support of a wise and calm elder. But drastic, sudden and possibly romantic changes are imminent.

A child born on this day may seek high adventure and romance. It may have many sound qualities and ideas, which it may exercise without much "rhyme or reason." It may have a singular career that may carry it far from its birthplace.

Does Your Breath Broadcast— "I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Poligent

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath. —and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes —rinse—and it's sweet and purified —ready to use!
